STUDENT ACTIVITIES

Seniors invade Toronto, Canada

This year 57 seniors went to Tronto, Ontario for five exciting days. The students went by bus and stayed at Tronto's King Edward Hotel located in the heart of the city near the famous Yonge Street. Seniors had quite a bit of free time to explore the city.

Some highlights of the trip were: attending the Second City Cabaret; going to the Royal Ontario Museum; seeing Bo Diddley perform at a leading discotheque; seeing Come Blow Your Horn at the Collonade Theater; and visiting the Riverboat Coffee House where they were entertained by a folk singer and a comedian. On the way home they stopped at the Ontario Science Center.

As a whole the trip turned out to be a great success and everyone had a good time.

Kent Turner and Mary Jo Vanderhoek raise their hands to show that they plan to attend the Senior Toronto Trip.

Heidi Engler, Al Oliver, Liz Scafe and Richard Honeycutt enter the Royal Ontario Museum.

Glenda Flath shows that you can make a phone call in a Toronto phone booth and not get mugged.

Mr. Ron Zeeman, Karen Seaman and Marie Lecous make a run for the cafeteria at one of the rest stops along Highway 401.

Heidi Engler and Gary Johnson watch as Richard Honeycutt purchases some hot roasted chestnuts from a frequently seen street vendor.

Mrs. Smith, Mrs. and Mr. Lewis stop to look at the scenery found in the Toronto Zoo.

Dan Atkins, Diane Hammond, Rick Calender, Bob Lee, Rae Norton, Richard Houston, Bruce Gasaway, Laurie Jockwig, Kent Turner, and Mary Jo Vanderhock leave the buses for a short tour.

Mrs. Smith tired after all the night life in Toronto rests on Mr. Zee-man's shoulder as the group gets ready to depart.

Fund raising at Kettering

Lynn Stehlik holds the board as Lisa Duffield and Larry Needham get their picture taken by Sue Jacobson at the Sadie Hawkins Dance.

Mr. George Fetter sees if Randy Thompson's new uniform fits.

When you buy something at Kettering, you are always helping someone out. Fund Raising activities include: popcorn and bake sales, dances and selling candy. The Seniors and Junior classes raise money for their Senior trip. This year the Band raised money for new uniforms. Their Fund Raising projects included: Tag-Day sales and a adult dance which was held at Springfield Oaks.

Bob Burdick, Peggy Barry and Joe Richardson are ready for customers at the Sadie Hawkins Dance.

Pat Stottlemeyer, Pam O'Neil and Charlie Deacon sells popcorn after school, for the Junior class.

Laurie Jockwig and Mary Jo Vanderhoek sell candy bars at a Waterford Kettering football game.

Kismet captures lasting memories

Capturing memories is what yearbooks are for. Collecting memories of the days when you went to school. When you pick up an old yearbook, memories, both good and bad, of friends, good times, and just plain fun seem to come back. Most people remember their high school days and Kismet tries to capture them all.

The Kismet would never have succeeded without the effort put forth by Mrs. Davison, who proved to have a tremendous amount of patience, and to Mrs. Alice Sayles for her kindness to us and to the rest of Kettering.

Daryl Koop checks the copy for any errors.

Deronda Cooper sells a yearbook to Dorinda Martinson.

Let's look at the news

Mike Wagner works on an advertisement for the paper.

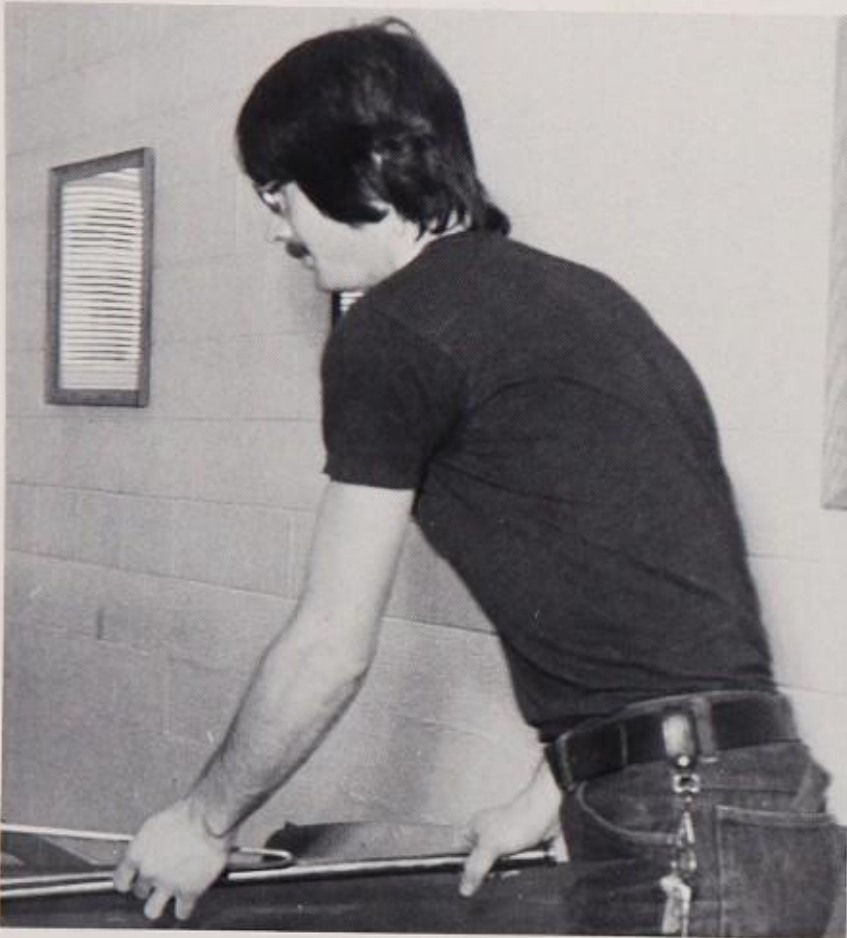

Ed Coates checks with Bob Burdick about changes that must be made in a feature story before the deadline.

There is a lot going on in our school and Faces reported it to the students. Keeping students informed is part of the newspaper's job. This was done by publishing many issues of Faces.

Issues of importance to the students were printed in sections as in a regular newspaper. All elements of producing a good newspaper are taught by Mrs. Davison, the Faces advisor.

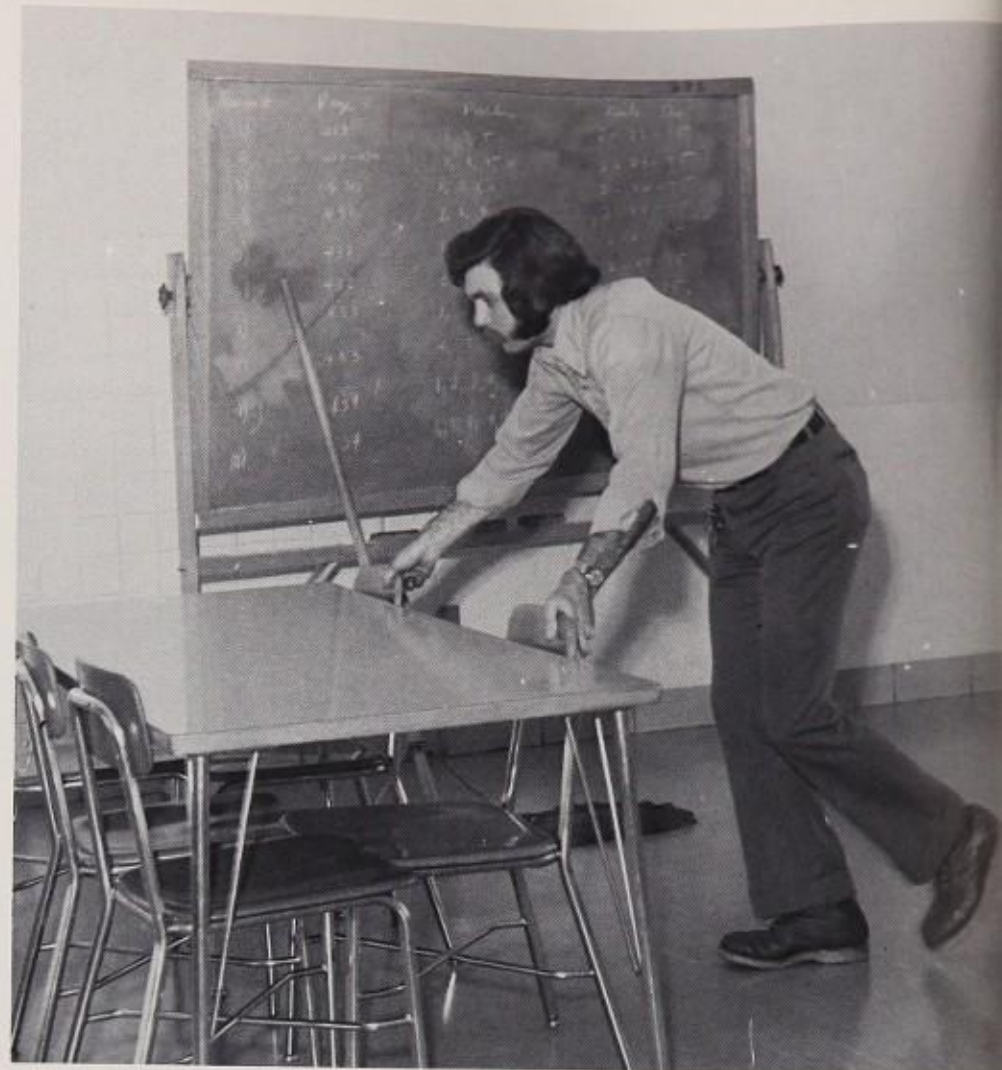

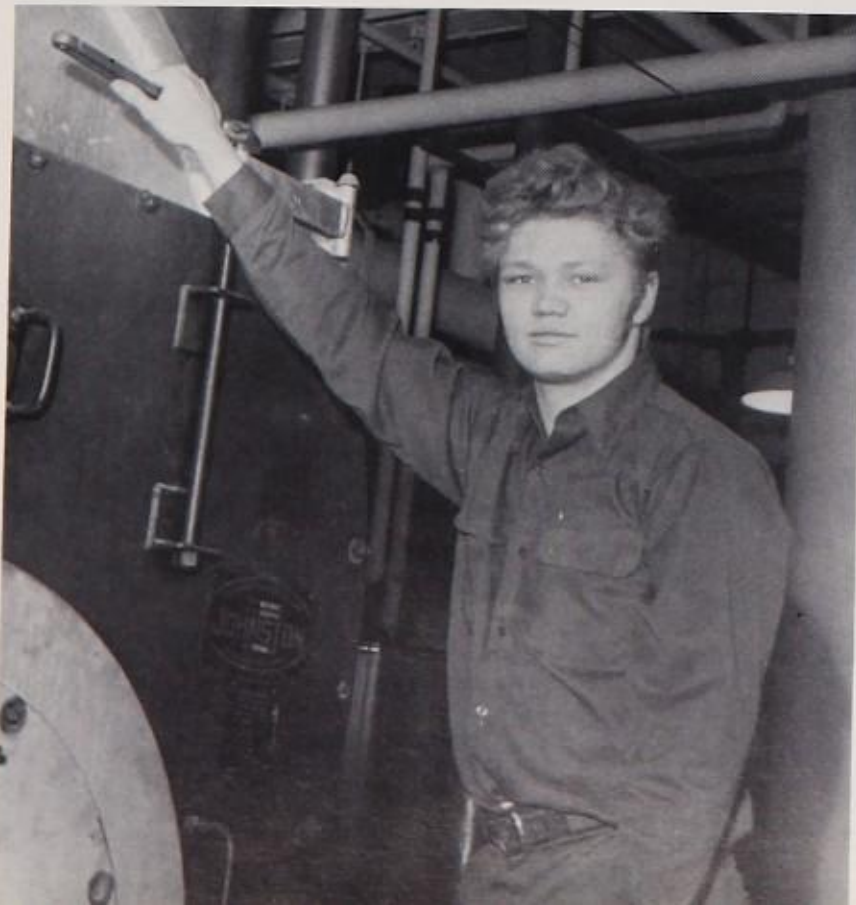

Keeping things in shape

Repairing a cafeteria table is Palu Slavado.

Clean halls, shiny windows and neat rows of desks greet students every morning when they enter their classrooms at Kettering. This is all accomplished by those behind the scenes men and woman, the Kettering Custodial Staff. The men and woman work year round. During the school year it is their responsibility to keep the building in repair.

Mike VanHaitsma takes time out from his busy schedule for a picture.

Jim Knight makes the cafeteria presentable.

Gordon Stevens clears up one of the art rooms.

Geraldine Gammage, Betty Hudson, and Virginia Jones enjoy working together.

The cafeteria help worked to keep the cost down but lunches still went from fifty cents to fifty five cents. The price increase was to help meet rising costs.

Members of this years kitchen staff were: Geraldine Gammage, Virginia Jones, Janet Colbert, Betty Hudson, Shirley Myes, Una Carlson, Mary LaFountain, Connie Marchewka, and Barb Evans.

Cafeteria workers

Setting up snack line is Shirley Myes.

Janet Colbert cleans up after serving lunches.

After serving lunches our cafeteria workers dine together.

Kettering hits the slopes

Ski Club was a revised club at Kettering this year. The club skied at Mount Holly on Thursdays. Mr. Rick Rine sponsored the group's efforts. The club invaded the hills at Mount Holly and it was a mess. Most of the students were on the slopes instead of on the skis. Skiing was nothing less than enjoyment for Kettering students.

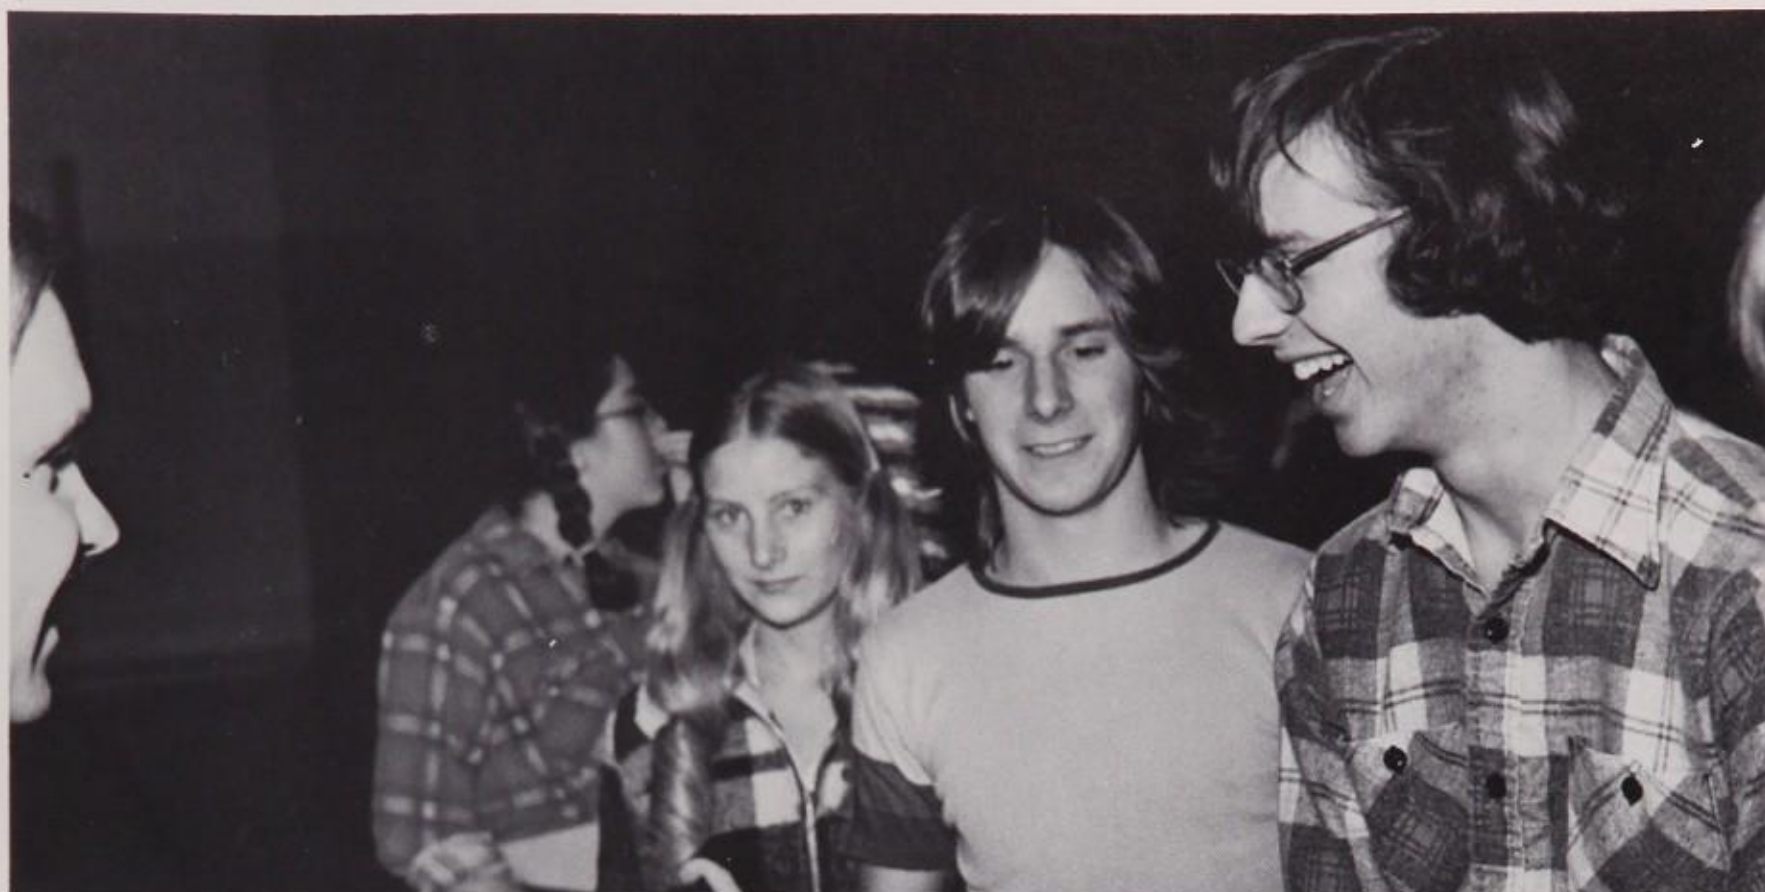

Karl Froling, Charlie Deacon, Pam McNeal and Rick O'Brien discuss topics at a Ski Club meeting.

THREE, Tina Easley, Leslie White, Robin Fredericksen, Lisa Wiser, Mr. Rick Rine, Sue Barger, Janet Fleming, Brenda Hardin and Diane Slinger.

Kettering dances flop

Rick Fagan, Karl Froling, Leigh Gurk and Mary Reinhart wait in line for Mr. Capistrant to sell concessions at the Sadie Hawkins Dance.

Randy Thompson escorts Lori Thompson into Sadie Hawkins Dance.

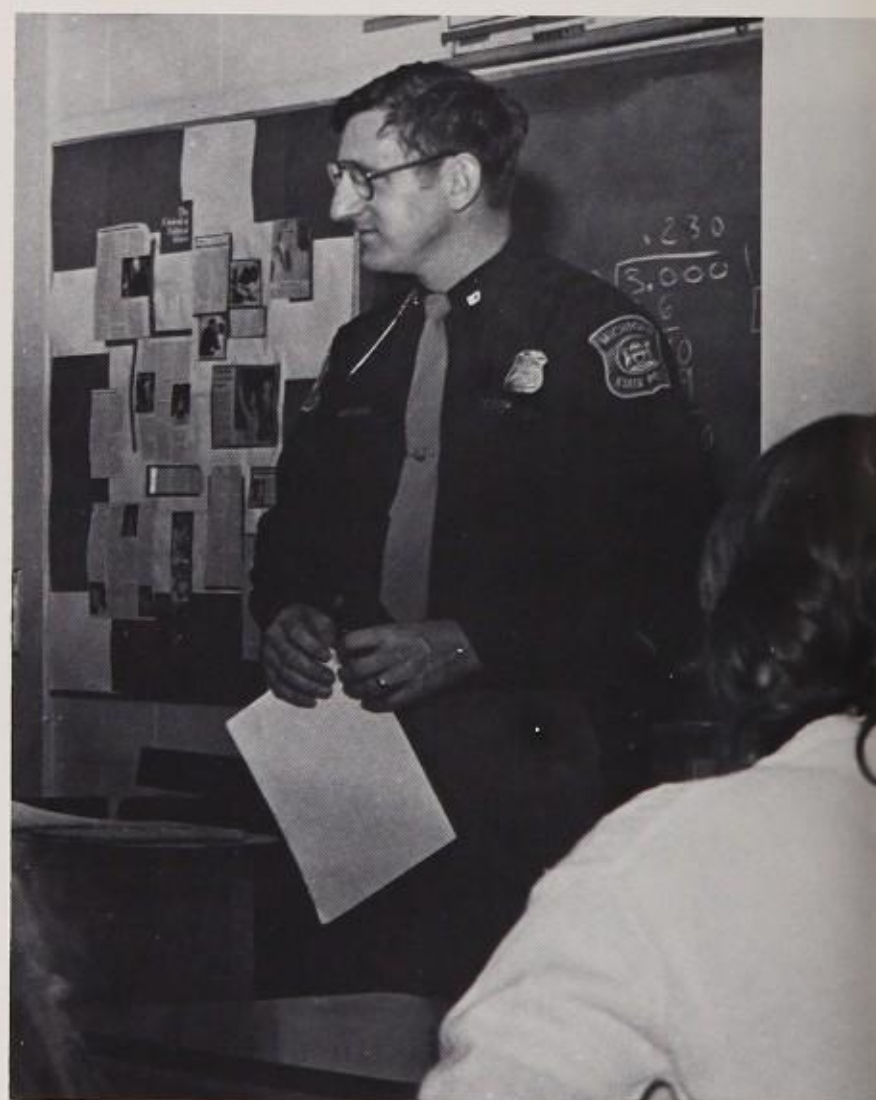

Clean up, after, the "After Game Dance."

The dances this year were not that successful. Hardly anyone came to the After Game Dance sponsored by Student Council and the same with Sadie Hawkins sponsored by Junior Class. The Homecoming Dance sponsored by Student Council was the most successful.

The Vocal Music Department contributed a great deal of time and effort to the Christmas Assembly. Here, Karen Goff sings a solo while the Girls Choir accompanies her.

Mrs. Patricia Kent and Kathy Riley discuss issues with Charlie Harrison following an Election Assembly.

Patrolman Erikson of the Michigan State Police visited the school and conducted a discussion with several students.

Dan Saylor, John Gorte and Gary Mueller are part of a group that performed during the Orientation Assembly. The name of the eight member group was Billy and the Blemishes.

Students gathered to share ideas

This year there was quite a range of assemblies including the annual Orientation Assembly at which new students and faculty are welcomed to Kettering.

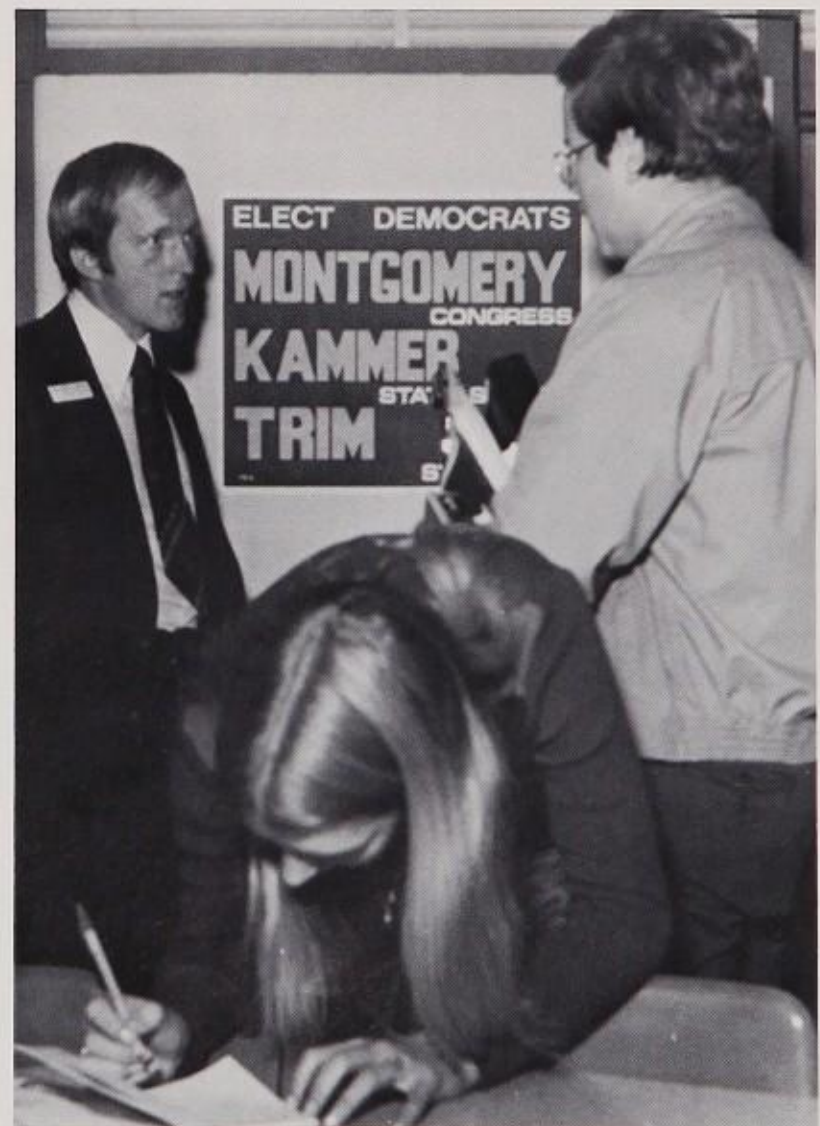

Other assemblies throughout the year included the Homecoming Assembly during which the Homecoming King and Queen are introduced. Pep Assemblies were also a part of the school year.

The Christmas Assembly included a slide presentation that accompanied the musical selections of the choir and the band.

A Crime Prevention Assembly was presented by the Oakland County Sheriff's Department. Prior to the November Elections, several candidates for public office spoke to Kettering students.

Mr. Garrett and Mr. Elliston participated in the cheerleading skit presented at the Homecoming Assembly. Sandy Cox and Kim Britt showed the cheers to the actors.

Martin Sulkanen asks Mr. Kerry Kammer about his abilities to handle the public office he was seeking. This took place at an Election Assembly.

Scott Nelson, Kim Kirpatrick, Laurie McBride and Mr. Kupelian have a group discussion.

Developing a career

W.T.S.D. provides our school system the means in which to educate students in the broadcasting field. W.T.S.D. under the direction of M. A. Kupelian is operated by students who hold their third class license. The music selection varies from the top 40 to country music, they are supplied records by all major recording companies. W.T.S.D. which is located at 88.1 on your FM dial also have complete play-by-play coverage of high school sports.

Brian Heatherington and Jim Mullins get ready to start their show.

Typing up copy for a news show is Deve Delong.

Who's behind the book shelves?

The Library Aides, of course. They help Mrs. Joyce Condin, and Mr. David Briston. There are two Library courses you can take, Library I, and Library II. The aides shelve, process, and check-out books, and work with the micro-film. The work these aides do helps to keep the Media Center in good shape.

Sue Becker prepares books for placement on the library shelves.

One of the duties of a Library Aides is to check out books. Junior Paul Albertson checks out a book for a fellow student.

Library Aides for the 1974-75 school year SEATED, Carlos Villarreal, Sue Becker, Bob Schiele, Debbie Gibbs, Judy Pearsall and Paul Albertson. STANDING, Sandy Barnett, Michael Morrow, Librarians Mr. David Briston and Mrs. Joyce Condon and Sue Armstrong.

Charlie Deacon (seated) helps Tom Hudson as he prepares for the second semester.

New registration proves successful

Registration this year was totally different from previous years in several ways. Converting from the old way of registering to the college form of forming a new school year. The new registration included giving the students a chance to choose their own classes, what hour they want and above all which teacher they would want to have for the class. This new form of registration has proven so far as to be a success, and will probably continue in future years to come.

Filing computer schedules is Karl Froling.

The work gets pretty hectic as Mrs. Portwood and Molly McGrath assist Tom Altoff.

Rowdies show pep

Members of the pep club await the arrival of their pep bus to an away basketball game.

Sue Rondo, Cindy Foster, Brenda Hardin, Cheryl Hammond, Debbie Williamson, Judy Stenquist, Jill Findlay, Kevin Wall, "FRITZ", Ken Kramer, Debbie McCintock, Terri Price, Cathy Collier, Debbie Mitchell, Virginia Seeterlin, Cheryl Combs, Robin Lang, Kathy Mann, Jeanine Atkins, Sue Jacobson, Megan Braman, Jim Balis, Anne Simmons, Sophie Pantelides, Carl Froling, Steve Kirkland, Katrina Johnson, Mr. Capistrant, Bill Tallenger, Kurt Gibson, Candy Babb, Kerri Beam, Angela Pantelides, Karen Green, Charles Deacon, Kathy Boss, Dan Medlock, Cathy Nollet, Diane Slinger, Carlene Jones, Lori Cumberworth, Scott Wellemeyer, Lin Beaman, Beth Brede, John McCaffrey, Rick Fagan, Dorinda Martinson, John Gressa, Lori Malvich, Sue Collins, Becky Devar, Pam McNeal, Sue Coryell, Jim Combs, Sandy Cox, Bob Tuson, Mike Anderson.

Pep club excited the crowd at a football game with one of their rowdy signs.

The purpose of the pep club was to support the athletic teams of Kettering. Pep club was a group of students who painted posters for football and basketball games. Pep club sat together during the game and made alot of noise. They have been referred to as the "Rowdies". They've had the spirit and they really showed it. The chief rowdie was Mr. Capistrant who was at every game cheering along with the pep club.

Babette Penfold and Tab Roy dress as typical teenagers of the 1950's. They earned spirit points for their senior class.

Wendy Wilcox, Sandy Smith and Larry Andress sit on the ledge and watch fashions of the '50's during their lunch hour.

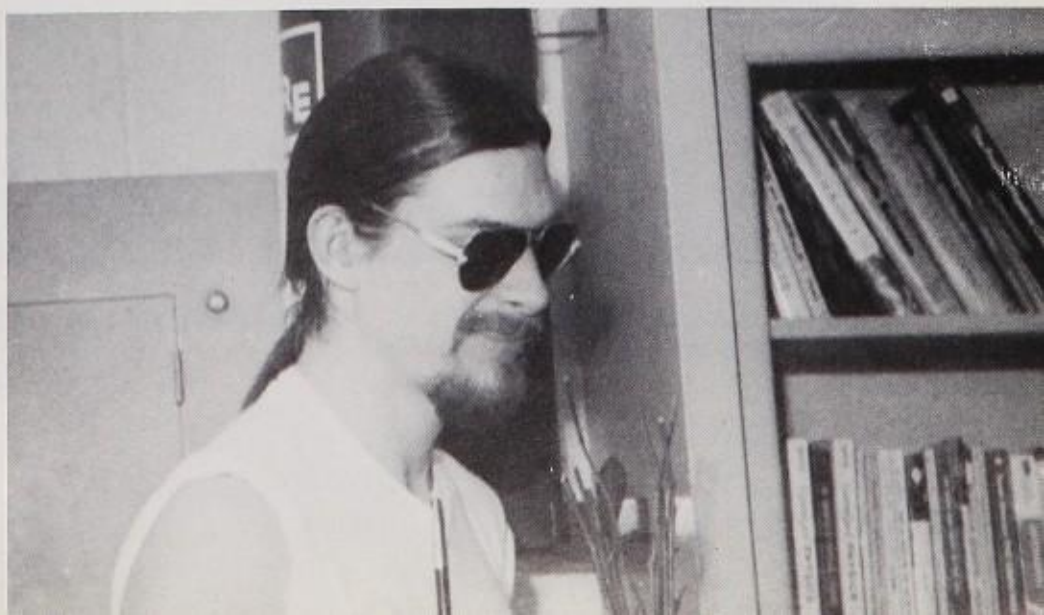

Spirit week is successful

Psychology teacher, Mr. Ken Frenkel was dressed in the appropriate attire for '50's day of Spirit Week.

Spirit Week, sponsored by Student Council was one of the most successful endeavors of the school year. Spirit Week really speaks for itself. It was a week for students and teachers at Kettering to show just how much school spirit they had. Each day of the week was designated as a specific spirit day. Points were given to students who wore the appropriate dress for the day. Most school spirit was shown on Tuesday which was designated as '50's day. Students and teachers dressed in styles of the 1950's.

Mr. Willis Garrett, joined with the students in participating in '50's dress day.

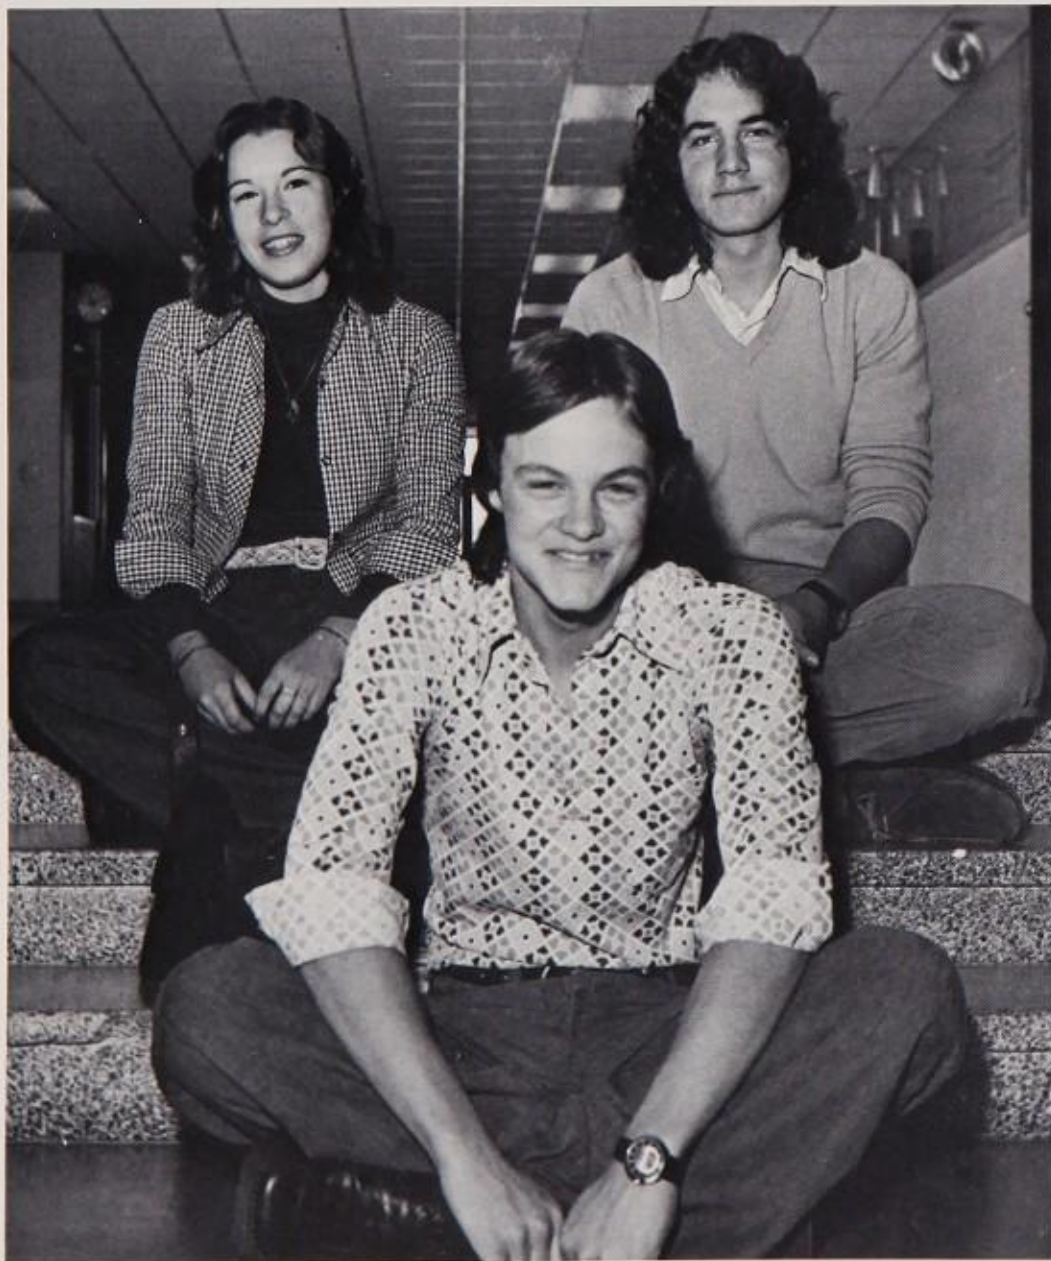

New experiences for Foreign Exchangers.

Waterford Kettering has for thirteen years had Foreign Exchange students. This year Kettering had the honor of having three Students. Maria Guimaraes from Brazil, Djalma Franca also from Brazil and Diego Betancourt from Equator.

Friends teach our Foreign Exchange student Djalma Franca sign language during lunch.

Diego Betancourt gets into his work during metal shop.

Homecoming dreams smashed by West Bloomfield

Mr. Fry presents a dozen mums to Queen Babette.

A victory could not be secured by Kettering Captains at the Homecoming game.

Debbie Allen, Judy Riabucha, Jill Findlay, Sue Coryell, Candy Babb, Sue Collins, Karen Shifner, Tammy Bigelow, Vicki Whitehead got the crowd cheering.

Homecoming brought a weekend full of excitement for everyone. The game on Friday night against West Bloomfield was filled with lots of action. Alumni and cheerleaders cheered the team on. Alumni were also represented in the floats with Kettering students. The band put on a great half time show for the enjoyment of the spectators. Members of the homecoming court arrived on the field in antique cars and stood before the crowd to be watched by hundreds of people. The dance on Saturday night was a great way to end a homecoming weekend at Waterford Kettering.

Homecoming 1974 a great success

"Don't Let the Sun Go Down on Me" was the theme of Kettering's 1974 Homecoming. Couples who attended the dance, enjoyed the music of New Breed. The atmosphere of the dance was very exciting. Brian McCallum, Karen Shifner and Kim Skrobeck returned to give their royal titles to the new Homecoming King and Queen. There was a very large crowd with everyone enjoying the Homecoming festivities. After the dance couples went to fancy restaurants to conclude their Homecoming evening.

King John Bauer and Queen Babette Penfold arrive at the Coronation Ball.

A new group, New Breed, supplied the entertainment.

Bill Kurtz and Judy Riabucha were senior court members.

Charlie Deacon and Sue Coryell were junior representatives.

The 1974 Homecoming Court members were: KNEELING, Charlie Deacon, Sue Coryell, Sherry Healy and Todd Weiss. STANDING, Sue Collins, Tim Weiss, Judy Riabucha, Bill Kurtz, Babette Penfold and John Bauer.

Goals were important to student council

Barb Thatcher takes over the meeting to report on sub-committee work while Molly McGrath hits the paperwork.

Mary Jo Froling and Howard Andress sort the canned goods collected for the Student Council Christmas Baskets.

The 1974-75 Kettering Student Council, ROW ONE, Cindy Love, Cathy Lindsey, Barb Thatcher, Rod Golding, Karen Goff and Howard Andress. ROW TWO, Pam McNeal, Cindy Carne and Todd Weiss. ROW THREE, Dana Beach, Heather Coates, Beth Brede, Jim Webb, Lisa Rogers, Karl Froling and John Gorte. ROW FOUR, Sherry Healy, Liz Owens, Charlie Deacon, Jim Youngquist, Greg Ruggles, Pat Stottlemeyer, John McCaffery, Jim Combs, Linda Tatu, Vince Thomas, Judy Pearsall and Mr. Jerry Lewis, sponsor. President Molly McGrath and Mary Jo Froling were not available when the picture was taken.

This year our Student Council has shown their two major concerns are to surpass the accomplishments made by previous student councils and to exist as an organization having due responsibilities within and beyond the limits of the schools.

This year the Student Council was set up as a class. They have succeeded in accomplishing many of their stated goals. They have participated in many community affairs, organized successful school activities and assisted in worthwhile fund raising functions.

Pat Stottlemeyer and Greg Ruggles sort the canned goods and place them in the Christmas Baskets.

Student Council also collected money to go to the needy for Christmas. Debbie Kurko and Rod Golding empty money cans.

Karen Goff, Dana Beach, Charlie Deacon and Rod Voltmer enjoy participating in a typical Student Council Meeting. The group met every day during fifth hour to conduct business that was profitable for students and the community.

The seniors ran into trouble again this year with the faculty members. The faculty picked up former Crarey star Mr. Zeim.

As usual, Mr. Earl Hook keyed the faculty with his great skill. The seniors got sharp-shooting from Mark Agorginitis, Paul McCaffery and Wayne Myers.

The starting lineup for the faculty included Mr. Willis Garrett, Mr. Ken Frenkel, Mr. Roger Johnson, Mr. Jerry Lewis and Mr. Tom Rasberry. Starters for the seniors were Merv Epperson, Mark Agorginitis, Don Clapham, Vince Sorbelli, Dan Watkins. Seniors rolled off to a 10-0 lead but the faculty came back to win, 41-38.

Wayne Myers shoots a free throw as teachers Ziem, Bronze, Elliston and Redding and seniors Newbacher, Laatch and Dowell fight for the rebound.

Starting five for the faculty were Willis Garrett, Ken Frenkel, Roger Johnson, Tom Rasberry and Jerry Lewis.

Greg Narsh passes around Mr. Hook to Paul McCaffrey.

Seniors blow it again

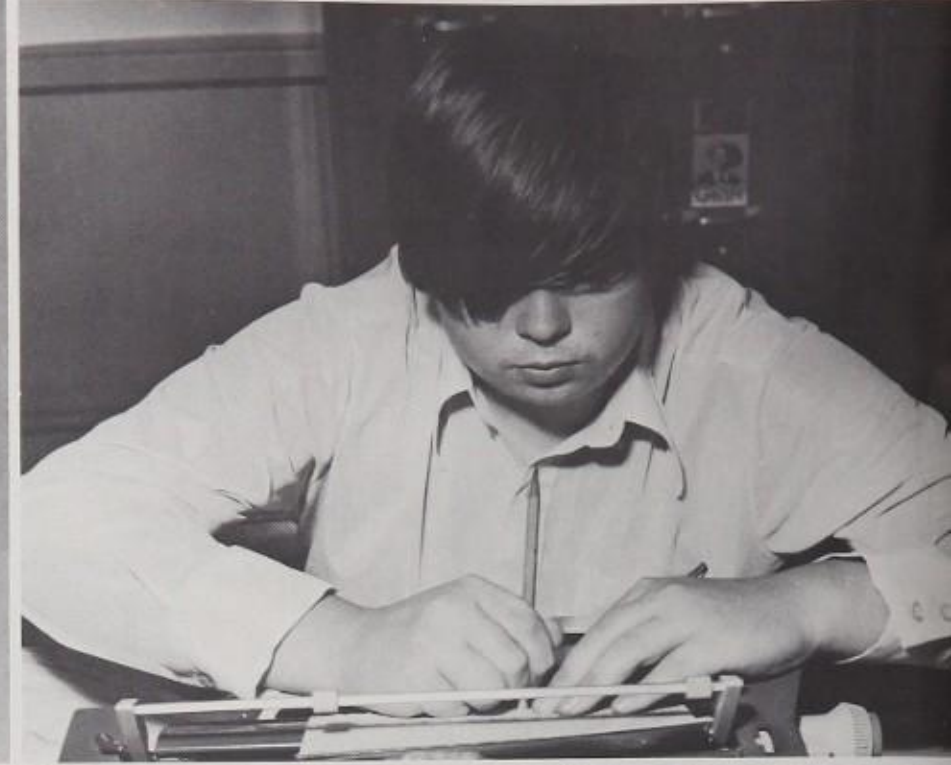

Mr. White is guarded closely by Don Clapham, while Marv Epperson positions himself.

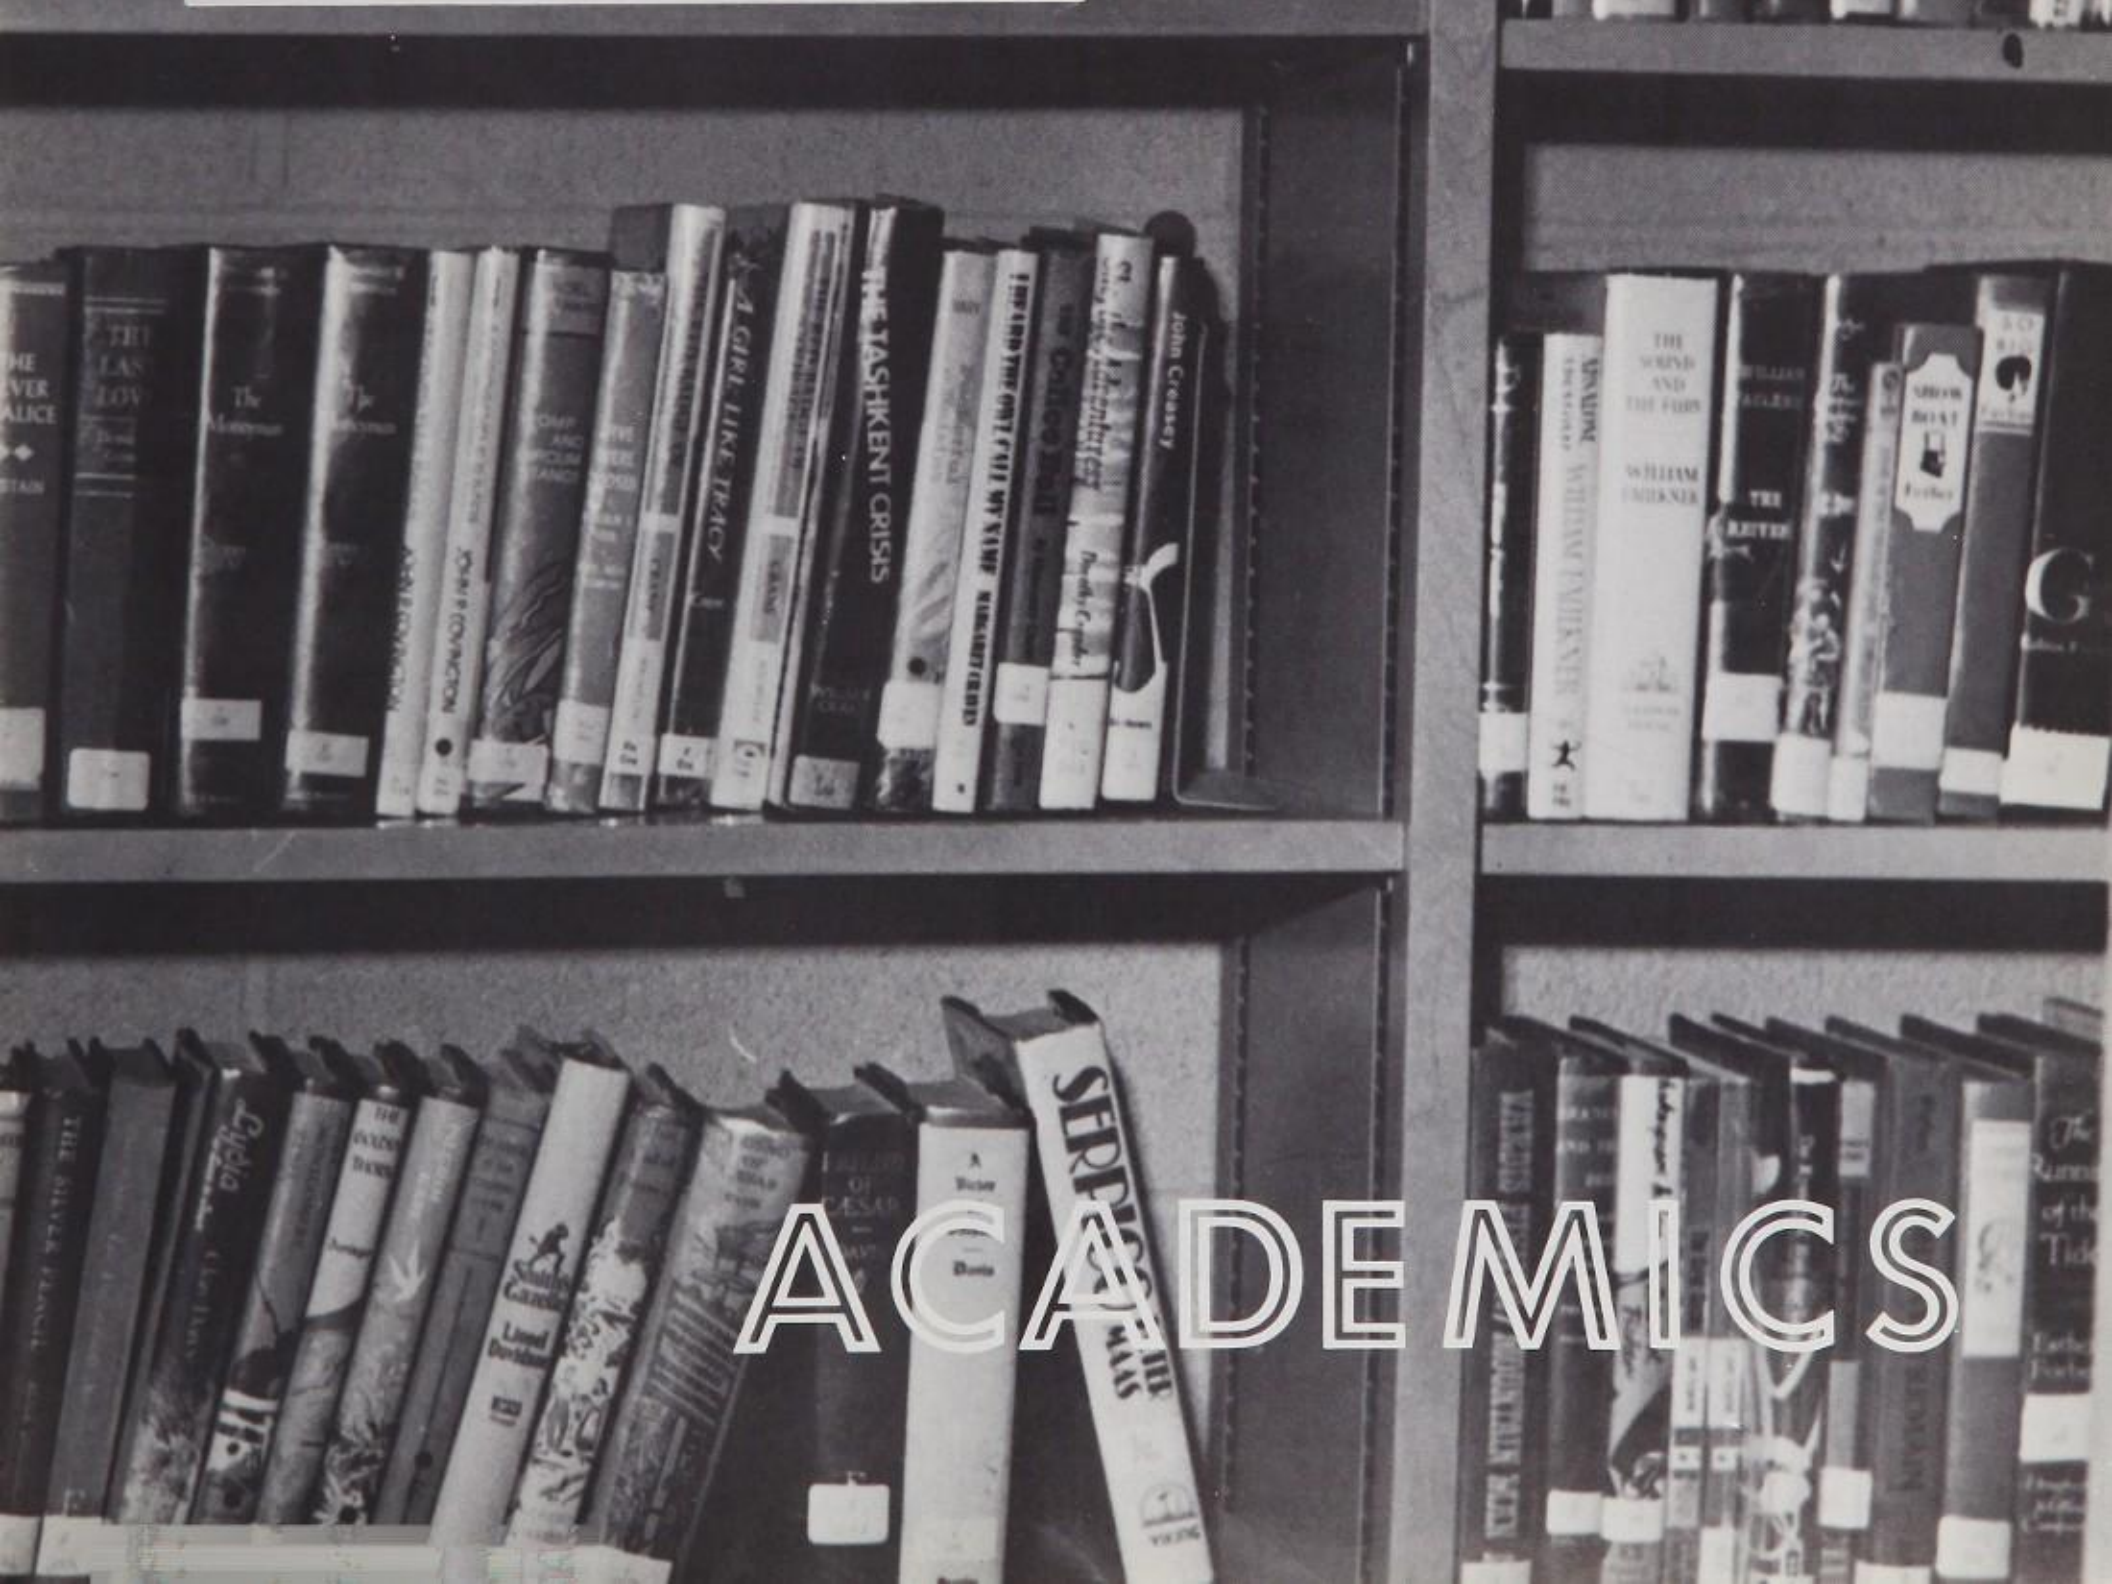

Mr. Tom Bryce, Mr. Earl Hook, Mr. Jim Capistrant, Mr. Rick Zeim, Mr. Dave Elliston, Mr. Chuck Hall, Mr. Ed Bronze and Mr. Dave Redding sit on the faculty bench.

Starting lineup for the seniors include Don Clapham, Dan Watkins, Mark Agorginitis, Merv Epperson, and Vince Sorbelli.

ACADEMICS

Communication through research

This year the English Department is coordinating certain English classes with some Social Studies classes.

The main objective of the English Department is to train students in the areas of communication through reading and writing.

There is an elective program that allows students to choose courses that will be helpful to them instead of the school choosing courses for them. The English courses include Mass Media, Creative Writing, Introduction to Literature and several other literature and writing classes.

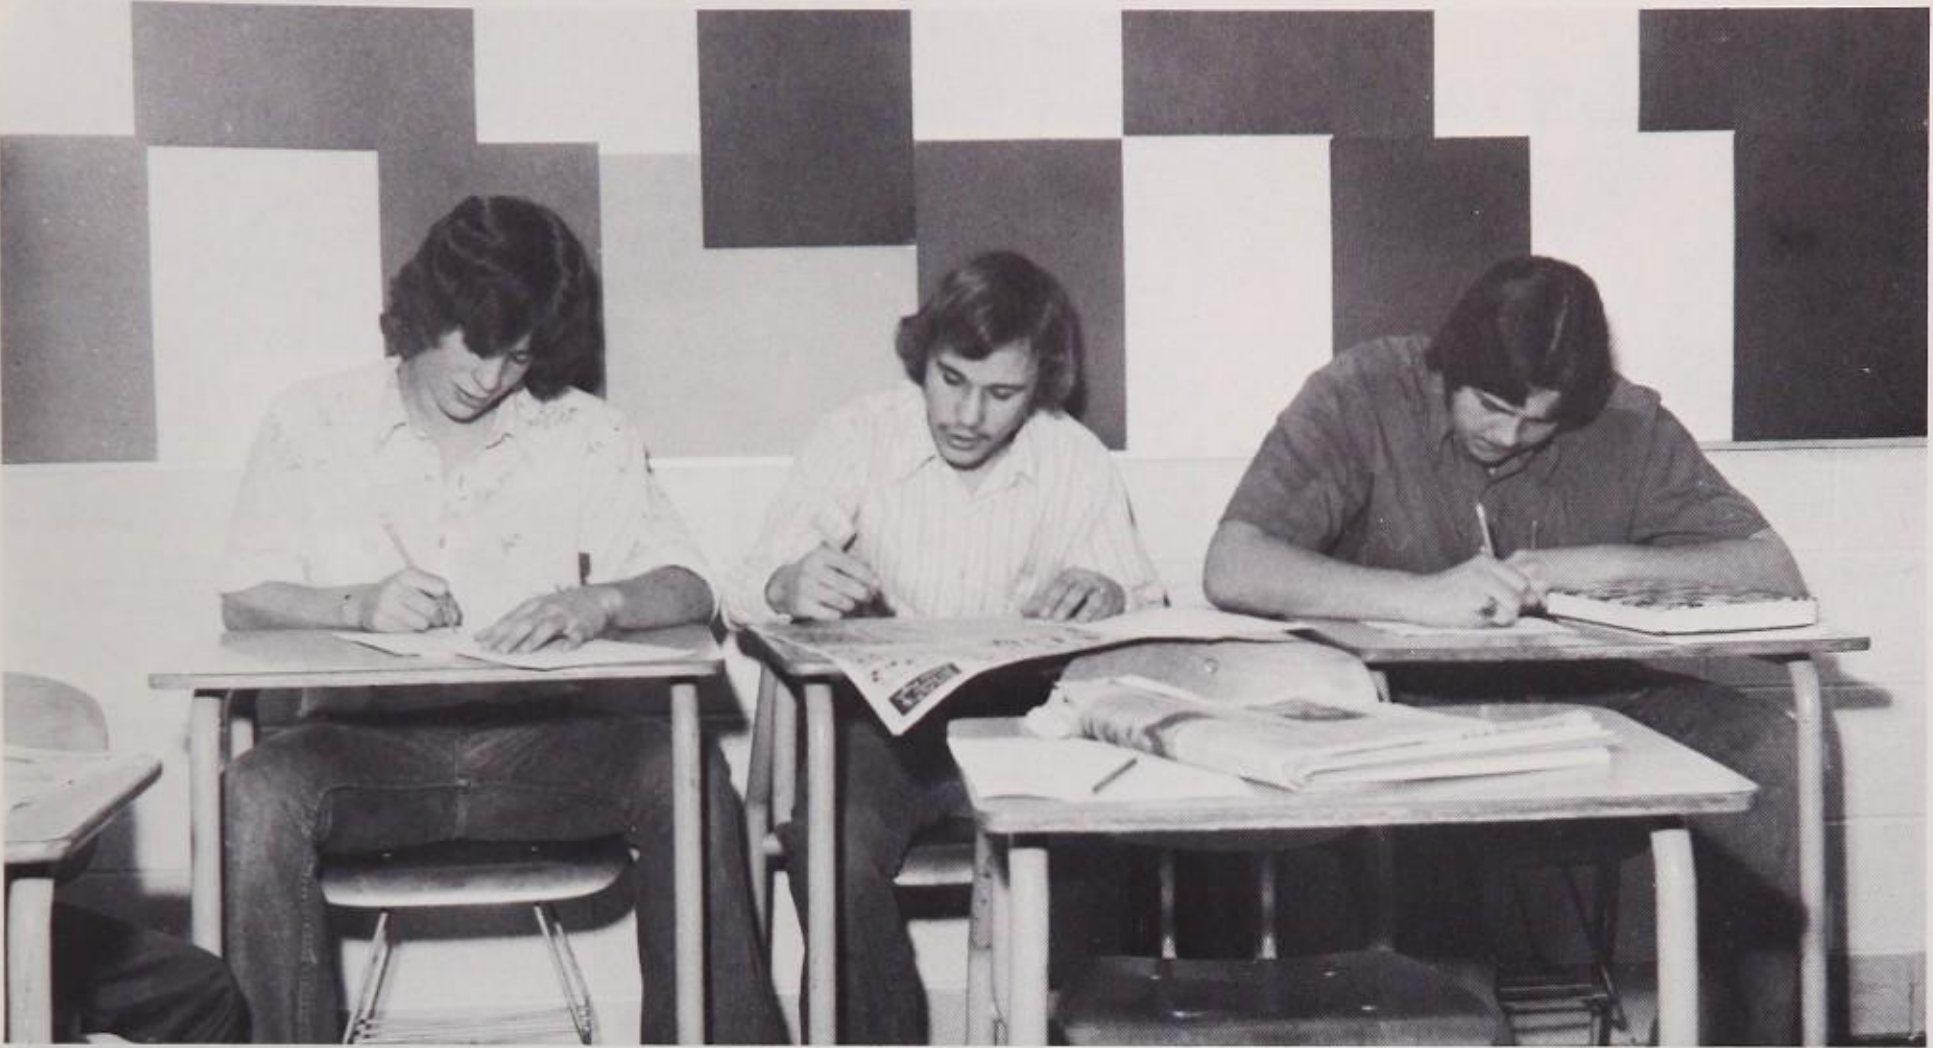

This year's English staff includes Mrs. Ann Becks who has returned to Kettering following a year's absence.

Cindy Carn, Ben Blevins, Craig Dean and Tami Richardson participate in a discussion with Mr. Don Haley.

Alan Carroll takes a piece of paper while Mrs. Bernice Smith puts a folder in the file.

Dave Cryderman dictates while Doug Baudoux and Mike Schultz take notes in Mass Media class.

Sue Teachworth and Dawn Weedon listen to a discussion during a Seminar in Ideas class.

Language enrollment down

Barb Cox and other members of the first year Spanish class listen as Mrs. Barb White explains the conjugation of a verb in Spanish.

Debbie McGrath and Peggy Macunivich discuss a language assignment.

Elizabeth Owen talks over a French assignment with Mr. Clarence Fleury. Mr. Fleury also teaches French at Mott High School.

Foreign Languages at Kettering are on the decline. Because of the few students who enrolled in French and Spanish, Kettering does not have a full time language teacher. Spanish is taught two hours a day by Mrs. Barbara White while Mr. Clarence Fleury spends two hours every day teaching French to Kettering students. The rest of their teaching time is divided between Waterford Township and Waterford Mott High Schools.

Cynthia Cam and Peggy Cook prepare to use the tape recorders to practice their foreign language.

Dust and silence replaced by activity

Robin Howard uses the Xerox Machine to make duplicates of some information she needs for a class.

The old notion that a library is a room or building housing dusty books and a grey haired spinster who frowns at the slightest whisper is a thing of the past at Kettering. As a matter of fact, so is the name "Library." The Kettering Library is now known as the Kettering Media Center.

Directed by Mrs. Joyce Condon and Mr. Dave Briston, the Media Center is a bustling whirlwind of activity. This large room overflows with books, tapes, records and other audio-visual equipment, all available for student use.

Open to students from 7:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m., there is seldom a moment when the room is empty or quiet.

Terry Edwards spends a few minutes browsing through one of the many magazines available to students in the Kettering Media Center.

Very frequently teachers like Mr. Kaminskis bring their classes to work in the Media Center. Joanne Brown and Howard Andress, members of Mr. Kaminskis' Research Seminar class pause from researching their papers.

Stand up and voice your opinions

Speech classes, required of all sophomores, help students develop the poise, confidence and ability to speak in front of large or small groups. Other classes offered to Kettering students include Debate, Play Production and Reasoning.

This year's Debate class has two debate teams, a varsity and a junior varsity team. Their season this year was very successful.

Play Production a year long course presented several plays. Students also learned the techniques of make-up.

Ann Crowley demonstrates the poise and assurance that have resulted from a semester of speech class.

Angela Pantelides and Steve Ratz work together in a Play Production class. One of the many assignments is to prepare a play and learn the parts.

Roger Skrobeck and Garian Weston compare and discuss notes and plans for use in an upcoming debate to held with other members of their Debate class.

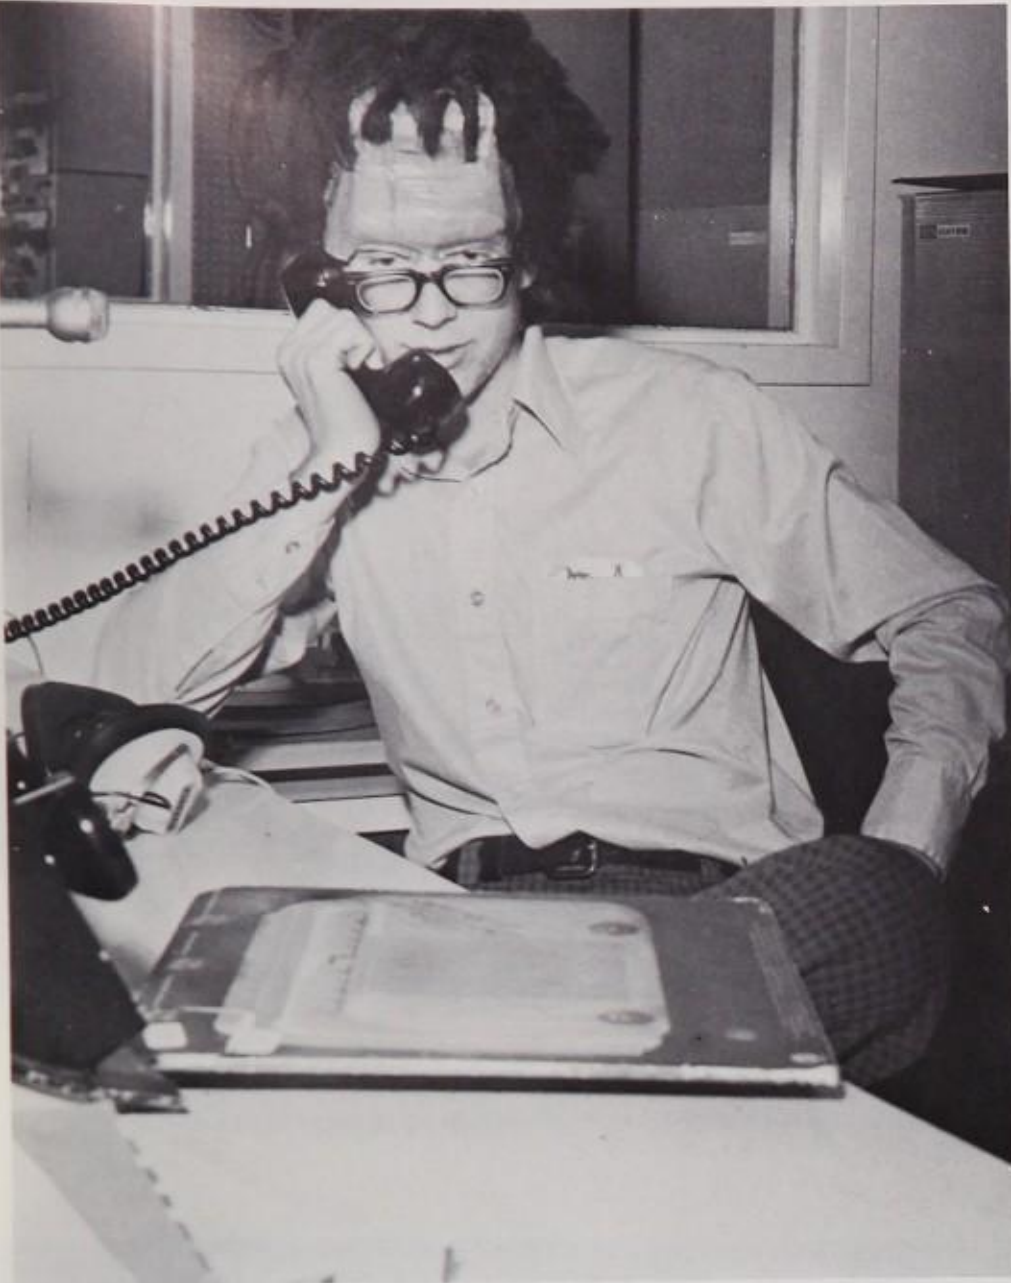

The little station with the big voice

Although it may not rock all the time, Kettering's Radio Station, WTSD, plays music for a greater variety of people than students realize.

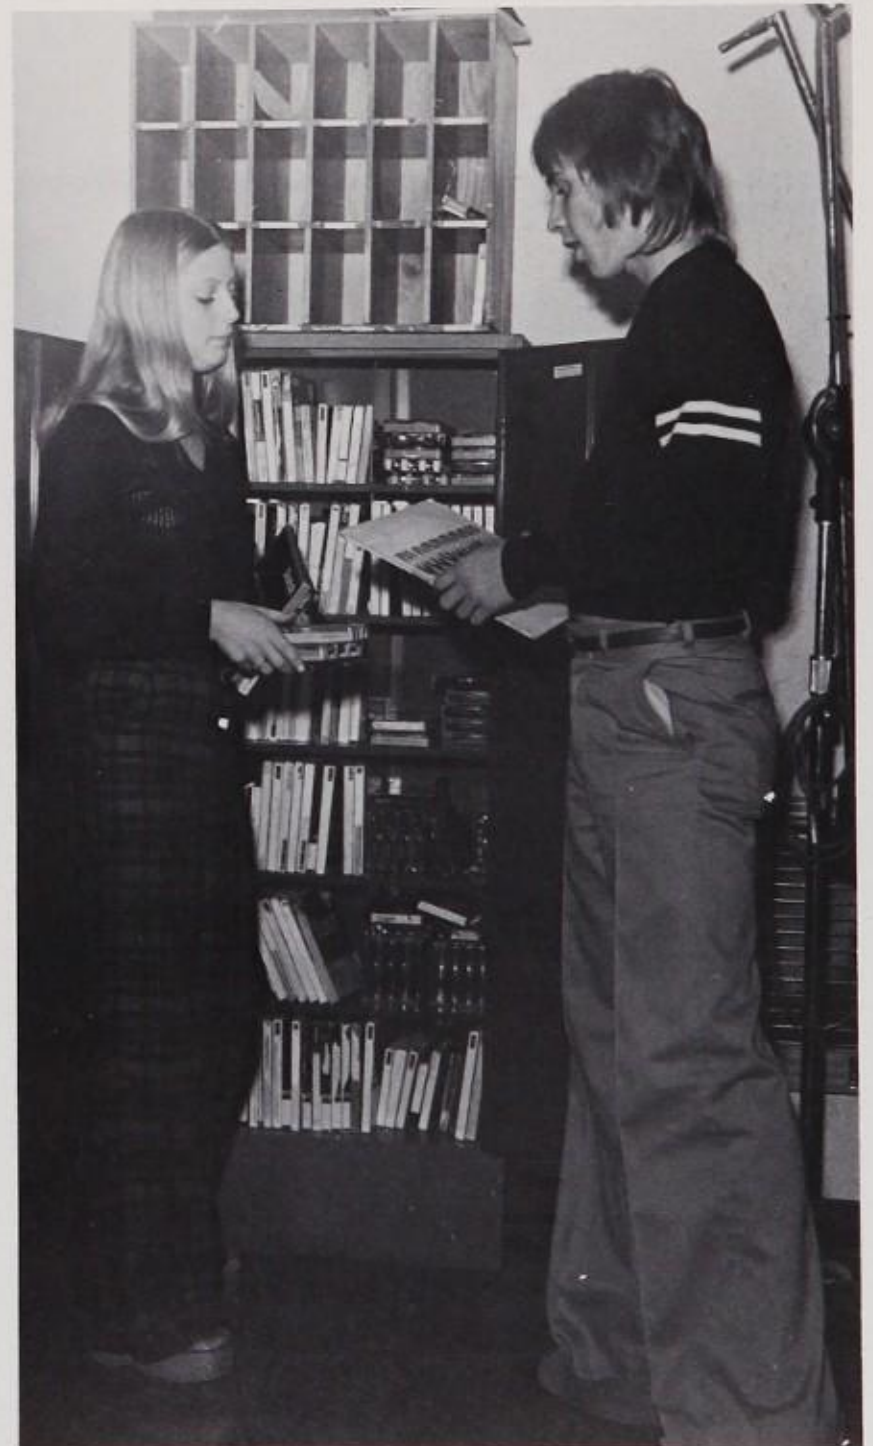

Since its founding in the 1960's, WTSD has steadily grown in size and popularity under the watchful guidance of Station Director Mirhan Kupelian. Mr. Kupelian is assisted by Mr. Greg Lestan. Students from other schools in the district also come to Kettering for radio classes and exposure to the radio world.

Kathy Grogan and Dale Widger decide the records that should be played during the next show.

Keith Rowland gets in step with the season as he dresses up to do his show on Halloween night.

As Bogart would say, "Play it again, Sam," but in this case it's being played again by disc jockey Dale Widger.

Government's future in hands of youth

Roy Varney puts film in the projector for his United States History class.

Mr. John Poage and two students listen to history tapes during class.

Dan Watkins, John Felts, and John Ellis and fellow classmates take a break after completing a test.

Some of the social studies classes may seem new but they are not. They are just being taught in a different manner. Teachers have new books and resources to help the student better understand history and government.

We had a new United States History teacher at Kettering this year. Mr. Ziem, attended Albion College and taught at Crary Junior High in Waterford before joining the Kettering staff. In addition to teaching, Mr. Ziem coached the Junior Varsity Basketball Team.

There is a wide variety of social studies class for Kettering students to choose from. The classes range from United States History to Shaping of Western Society.

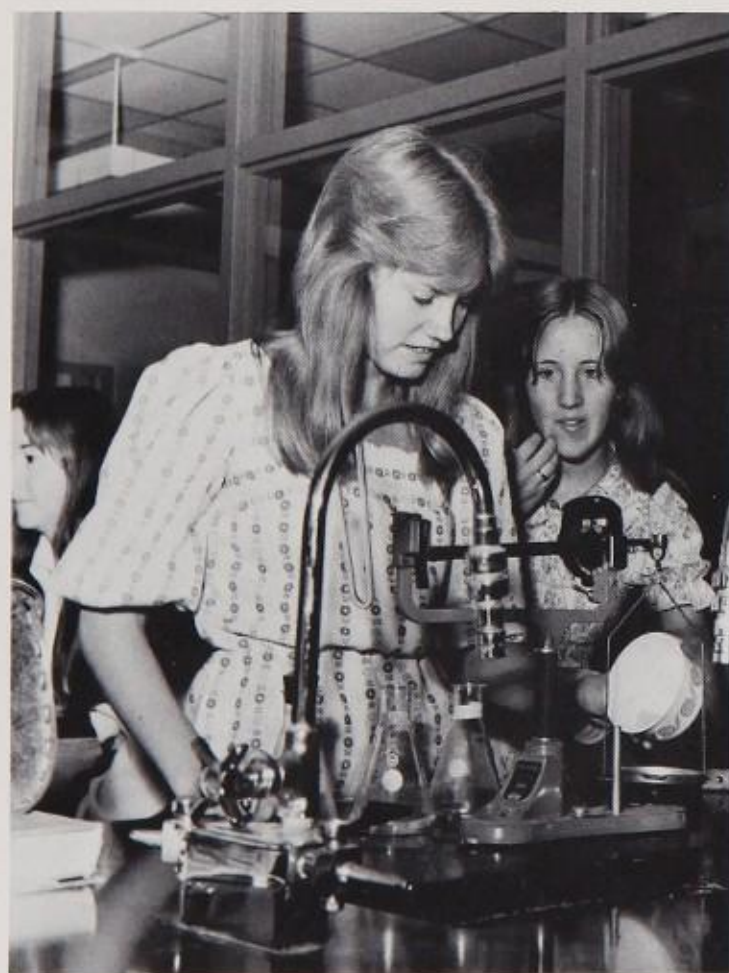

Mark Agorgianitis, Sandy Oertel, Lori Holland and John McCaffrey do an experiment in sound on Greg Morgan.

Trial and error furthers knowledge

Scott Woodhull observes specimens through a microscope.

Valerie Newman and Val Shaw, are measuring the weight of an unknown substance.

Mr. White mixes up a solution used for his biology students' lab experiments.

John McCaffrey assists Jeff Holm and shows him the problem with weight.

Karl Owens glances through the microscope to study microscopic germs.

This year's Science Department courses covered areas ranging from the unknowns of chemistry to human physiology.

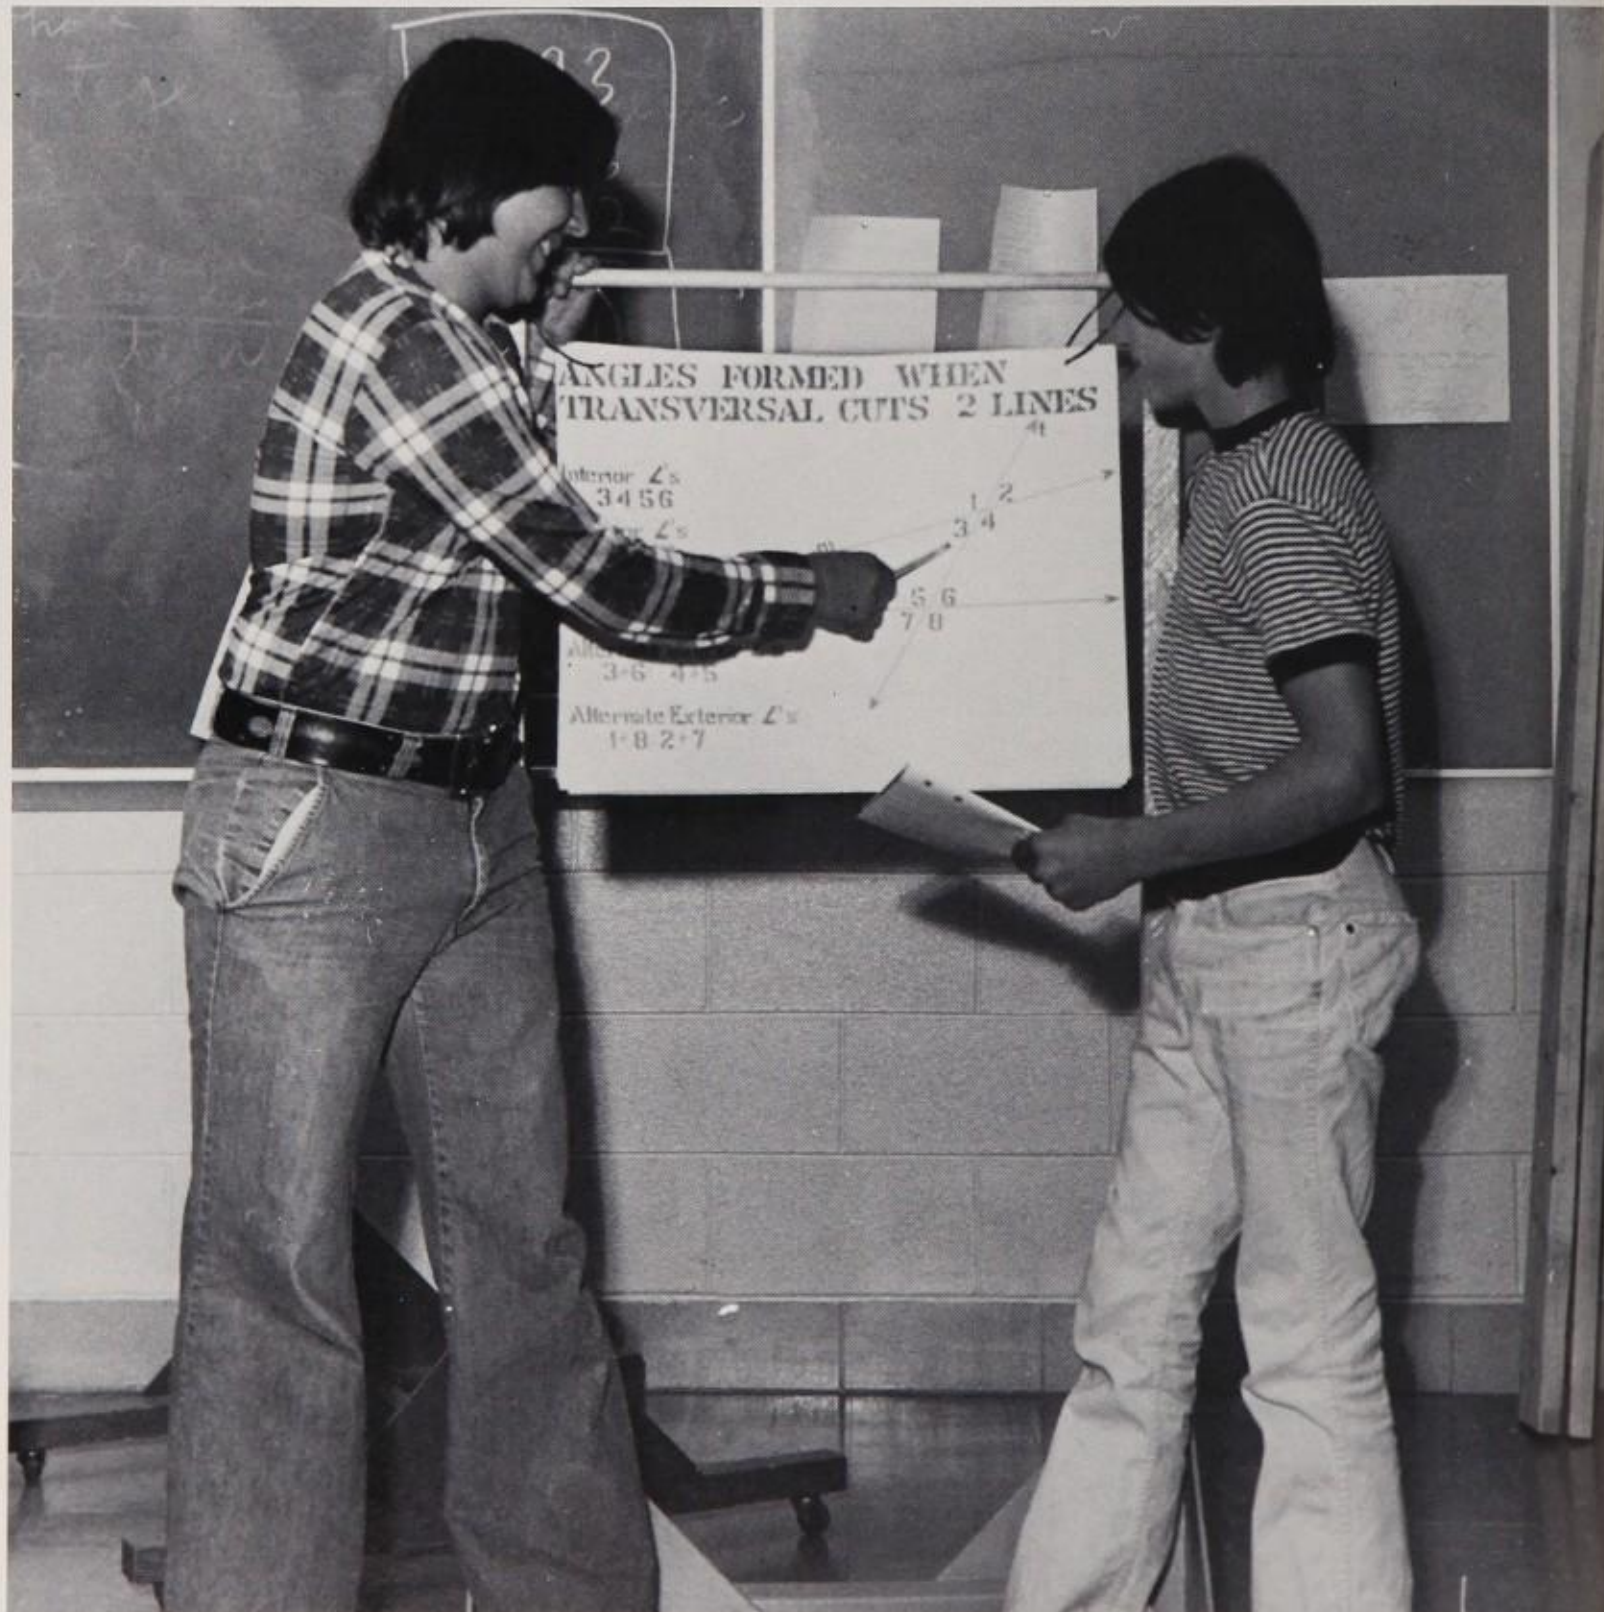

As a result of a down fall of heavy snow, the school greenhouse collapsed. The science classes united to reconstruct the greenhouse and replant the numerous plants. The students were aided in this task by the Science Department teachers, Mr. Will Garrett, Mr. Earl Hook, Mr. Roger Johnson and Mr. Emerson White.

Individualism works

Vic Cox checks out the assignment while Mike Drinkard works behind him.

Fred Reaume explains one of the geometry techniques to a puzzled Ed Grayden.

Martin Sulkanen, Denise Curtis, and Tim Weiss concentrate hard on their senior math problems.

Mr. Zeeman looks on as Cristi Holland and Kathy McConnell take their tests
Denise Barber is in the background.

Although the math department offers no new classes this year, many of the teachers are teaching the same classes in varied ways. Several teachers have adopted the "individualized system" where students work at their own pace. There have been mixed reactions to this format.

The math department, headed by Mr. James Capistrant, has a new grading machine this year which can grade tests a lot quicker than the teacher can. This gives the teachers more time to plan their classes. The grading machine is not only used by the math department but other departments also benefit from it.

One new teacher has been added to the math staff this year. Mr. Dick Rine, originally an Ohio resident has moved north to join the math department at Kettering.

Business helps build the future

To further and improve skills in accounting and bookkeeping the Business Department offered an advanced bookkeeping course this past year.

Due to a decrease in enrollment in business courses, business teacher, Mrs. Penny Aldrich was transferred to Mason Junior High.

The Business Department does not consider itself a female oriented department since fellows are encouraged to enroll in business courses.

Cheryl Fliescher answers the phone in Office Training Class.

Susan Teachworth runs copies on the duplicating machine.

Kim DeNio, Kim McRenolds, and Peggy Barry are hard at work in Typing class.

Mr. Bronz explains make-up assignments to Leslie Persley.

Kathy Taylor is busy with adding machine in office block.

Co-op works

This year there are twenty-six students in the Office Co-op Program.

The main objective of the Department is to provide training in an office situation with the student receiving money and credit in addition to the training.

One of the main skills required is typing. The students receive $1.90 or more per hour and they may work twenty-eight hours per week if they enrolled in four classes at school. Some of the employers are Pontiac General Hospital, Van Dusten Aircraft and Waterford Schools, Sears and Kresges.

Kathy Taylor puts forth her skills for the business she works for.

Co-op student Judith Pearsall helps keep the library in order.

Theresa Crawford keeps Kettering's Book Store window spotless.

Joanne Brown, Laurie McDonald, and Liz Vega dismember the health doll.

Future med students

One of the main objectives of the Health Co-op Department is to place a student in a job situation that most closely parallels the students career choice. Another objective is to give the student a chance to earn money while working at a job in which he has skill preparation. Also, the students get an opportunity to learn more skills while on the job.

Cindy Perry accurately measures the weight of Roberta Baker.

Jackie Hanewacker takes the blood pressure of Bruce Voltmer.

Learning through experience

This year's Industrial Education courses provided experiences in the skill and trade areas. Projects in electricity and machinery kept students as busy as they could possibly be. To combine the experience of Suto and Industrial students, the two classes joined together to build a street rod or as some prefer to call it, an antique automobile. Further developments in the industrial field are provided by Industrial Co-op. Industrial Co-op supplies students with on the job experience not available in the classroom.

In one of the projects designed to familiarize students with various types of tools, Terry Robinette uses a hack saw to cut a metal rod into several short pieces.

Brian McMann, Burt Regianni, Mike MacIntosh, Jim Wallace and Dan Mann, familiarize themselves with the machines in the Machine Shop before beginning a new project. In the Industrial Education Department, students learn to use a variety of tools.

Keith Day demonstrates that concentration is an important and necessary part of precision work. Keith is completing a project.

Jerry Katich really isn't playing with all those cars, but applying a finish to the cars made and distributed by Jerry's first hour Wood Shop.

Ron Stewart observes the serious work of Scott Kasemire and Bill Holden. Scott and Bill are shaping a piece of metal in Machine Shop.

N.O.V.E.C. offers practical experience

Danette Best operates the N.O.V.E.C. cash register.

Martin Peters at work with the paint sprayer.

Commercial artist Jenny Finkle at work.

The Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center (N.O.V.E.C.), is designed and equipped to serve school districts in Oakland County. It is centrally located to facilitate the greatest number of schools available. The center has been established so that students can learn a vocation and still attend their home school and participate in school activities. After completing their course, students receive certificates which proclaim their qualifications in their major field. Most courses require two years to be completed successfully. Students attend N.O.V.E.C. for three hour blocks every day.

Pat Patten busily types as assignment.

Mark Woodle puts the finishing touches on a printing job.

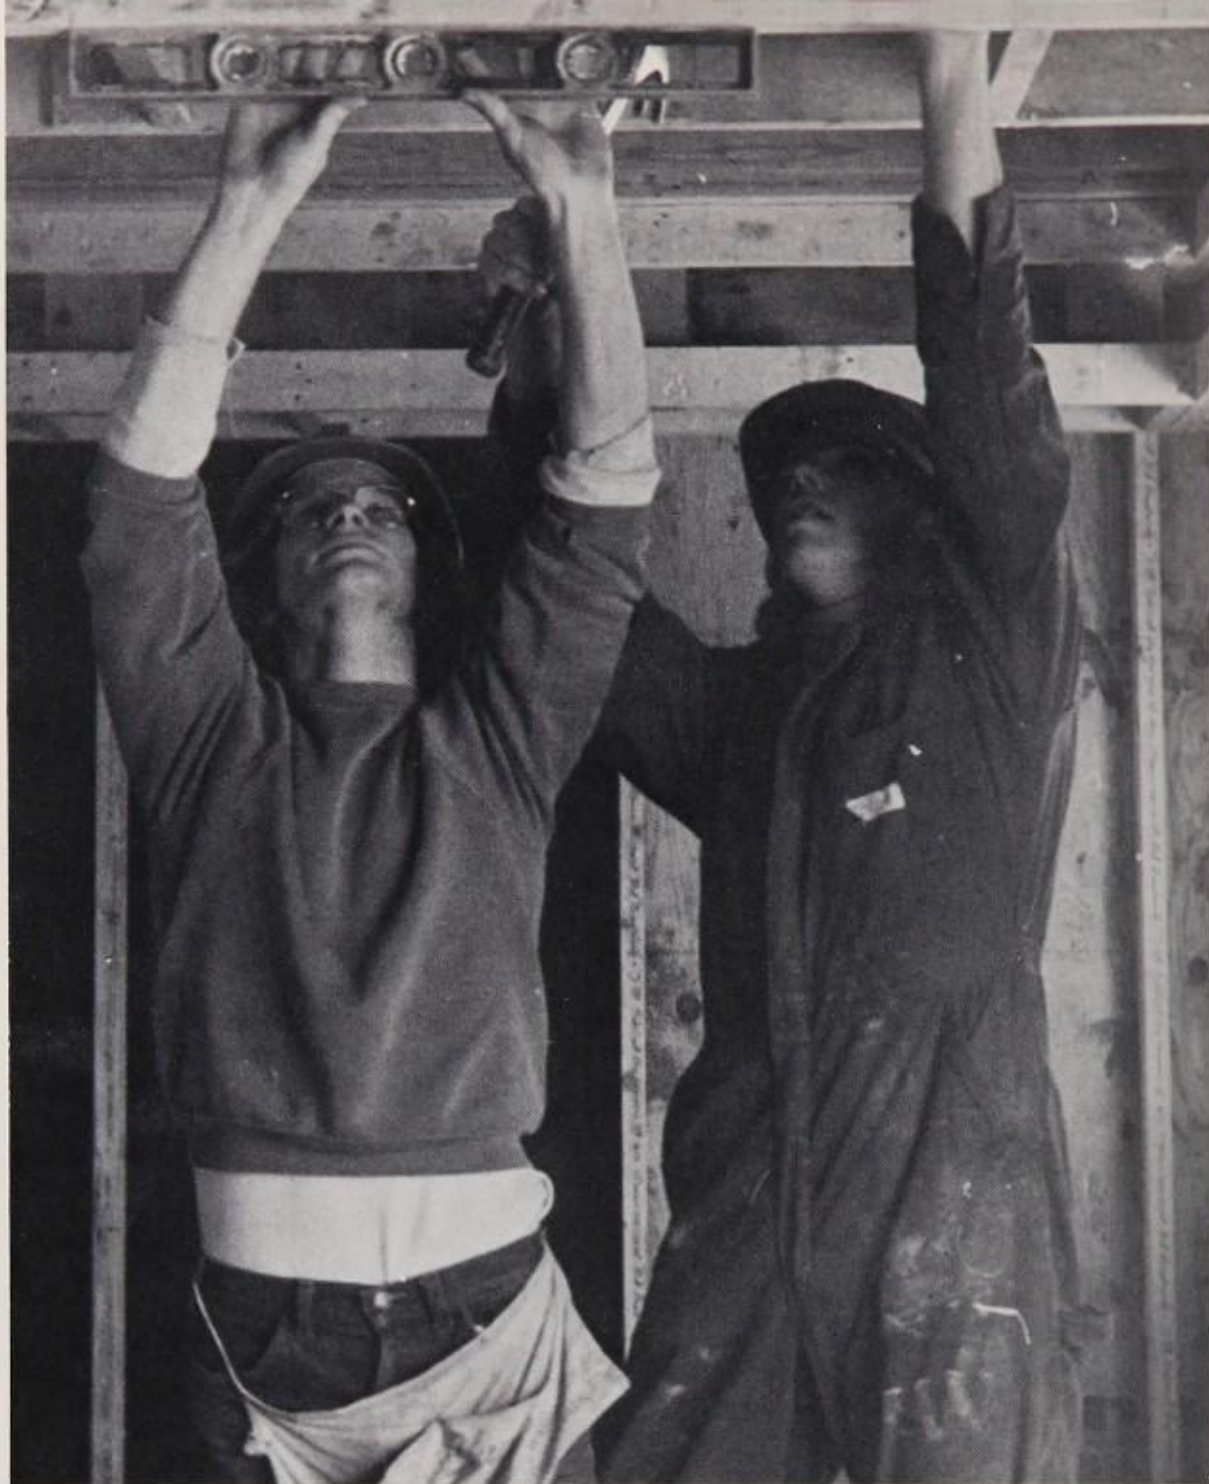

Margie Blust says, "Open wide!" Debbie Rose responds with, "Yechh!"

Russ Gwinn and Chuck Nichols get the necessary tools for the job they are about to begin.

Benny Irwin pounds a two-by-four in place before beginning the next step in building the house.

What good is a house with a slanted ceiling? Russ Gwinn and Jeff Johnston use a level to assure accuracy in their work before beginning work in another room.

Tim Lemarbe and Russ Gwinn shovel cement into the proper areas before beginning to trowel the cement in place. This must be done before the cement hardens.

The house that building trades built

The Building Trades home construction project in Drayton Woods is becoming closer and closer to completion every school day. This is one many programs offered by the school district to the students in the three Waterford high schools.

Building trades enables many students to gain the valuable experience needed to get a good construction or carpentry job. The house, when completed will be sold. Next year's group will build a new one.

Chuck Nichols and Russ Gwinn and many other people help in building a home.

Putting tools into the mobile home is the job being done by Chuck Nichols.

Tim Lemarbe takes time out for his picture to be taken.

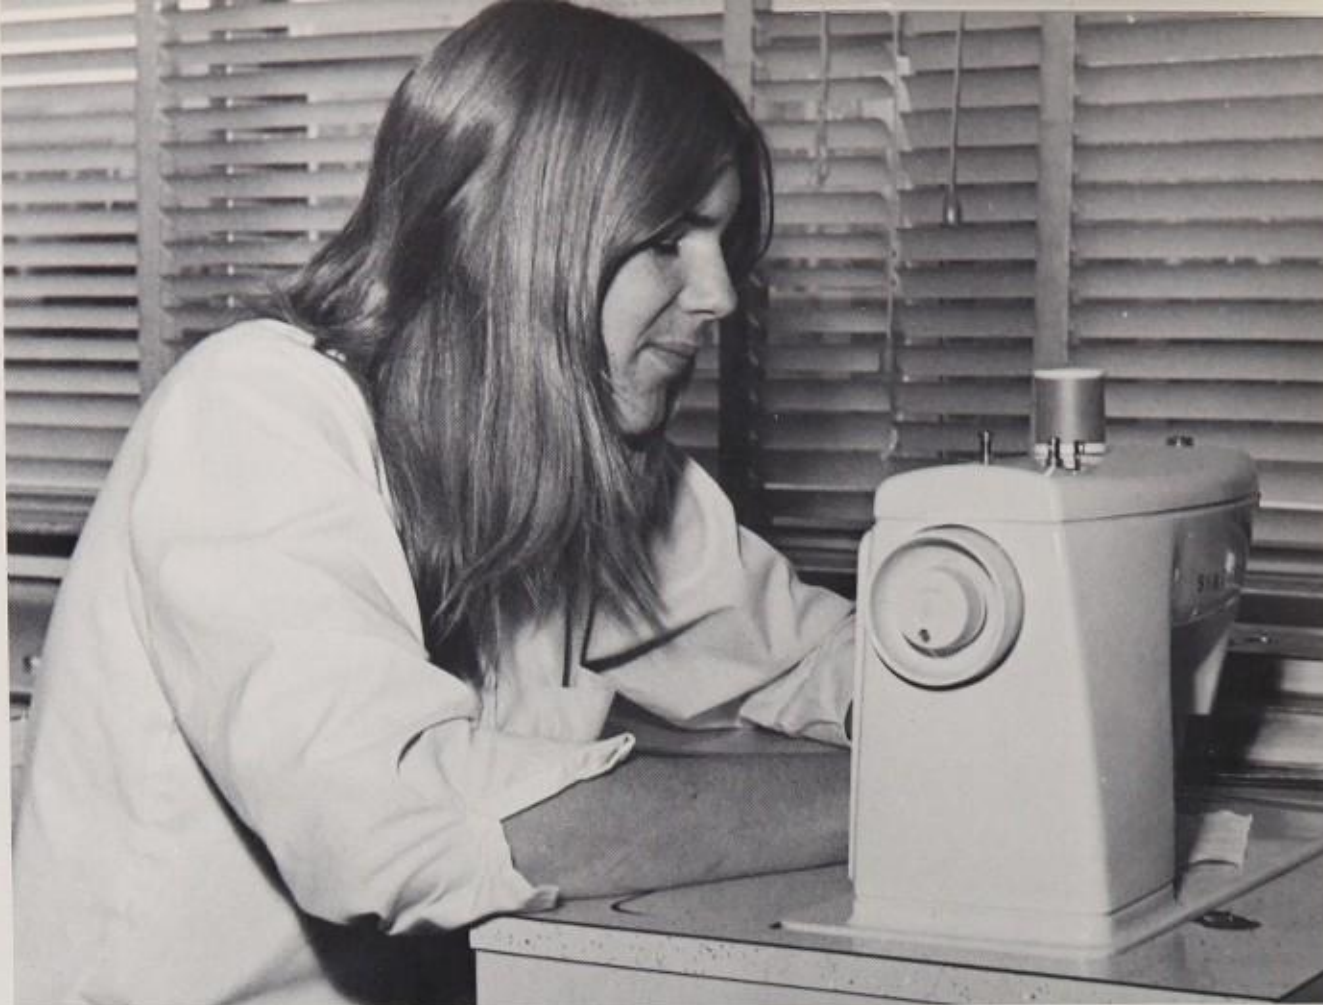

Russ Gwinn shovels out of the way one of the easier obstacles in building a house.

The main objective of the Home Economics Department is to help young people gain practical home economic skills and to encourage the development of understanding interpersonal relationships.

This year the courses were arranged into single semester programs so that more students could elect them.

Video-tape machines were used for the first time this year. These help give the students a wider view of home economics career opportunities. In all home ec classes more emphasis was placed on recognition of career opportunities in related fields.

Tim Thompson handles the sewing machine like a professional.

Glenda Stokes patiently stirs the jam.

George Lenz irons his project properly.

Burt Regiani cuts the pattern as Mike McIntosh and Mrs. Paine watch.

Debbie Vauer concentrates hard on her embroidery so she can get it done.

Toddlers visit school

Students at Kettering are involved with children of many ages. The teacher aids visit elementary schools to work with students. Students in child care bring small children into class to observe their behavior.

Erasing her artwork from the board, was one of toddlers at the child care Halloween party.

Rich Welch works with a small group of sixth graders at Manley.

Kathy Costello assists a student at Monteith Elementary School.

Denise Allen and Donna Trout entertain a toddler during the child care class party.

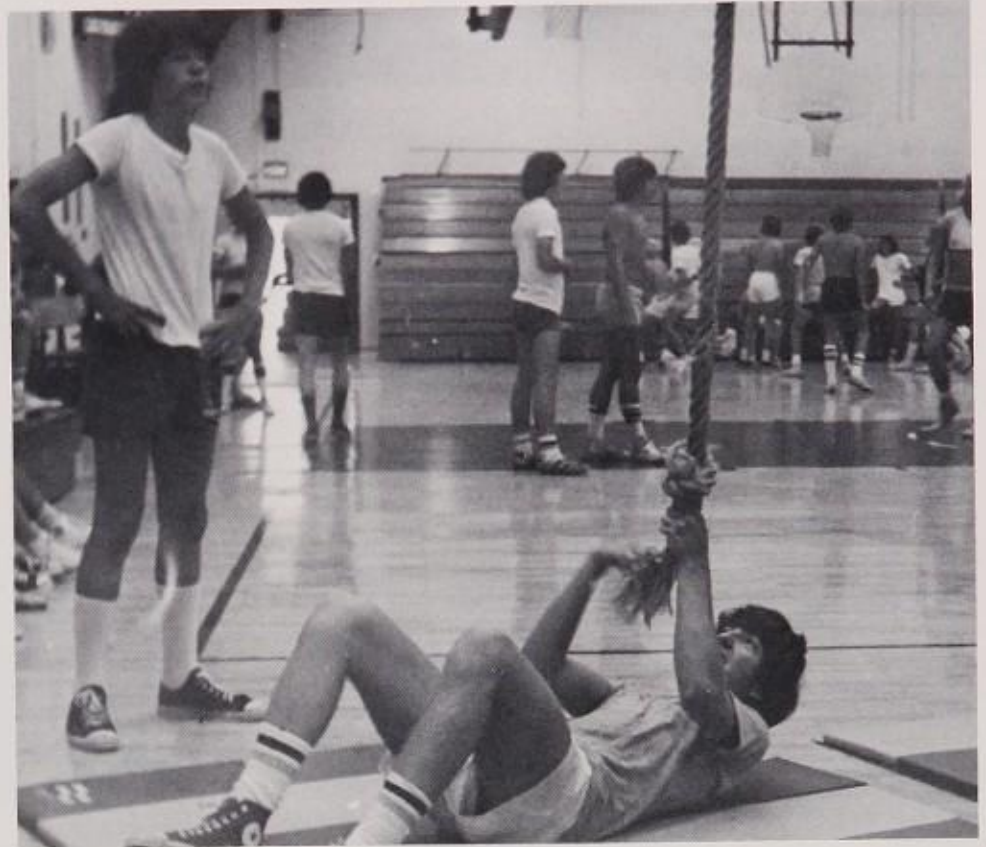

Periodically throughout the year the child care class brought young children to Kettering to observe the interactions of children in small group situations. Ruth Davis, Tammy Drubre, Joan Peterson, Dawn Tatu and daughter Cristy, Charlene Campbell and Mrs. Gwen Paine watch as several children entertain themselves with educational toys provided by the students of the child care class.

During a co-ed day volleyball game, Robin Rice hits the volleyball with success while Jim Wilson, left and John Crook and Jon Franca, right, watch.

Byron Feltner desperately tries to climb the rope, but always seems to end up on the ground. Gerald Jackson watches.

Sandy Putman, Leslie White, Lori Melvich, Kathy McKay, Kathy McConnell and Kim McReynolds perform an almost perfect formation while others in the girls gym class watch.

Physical education is an important part of school. This class includes the study of football, basketball, volleyball, wrestling, tumbling, gymnastics and weight lifting. Occasionally the boys' gym class and the girls' gym class join together for co-ed days. On these days students are allowed to participate in any gym activity of their choice.

Gym classes also discuss first aid techniques and movies on smoking and venereal disease.

The teachers are Mr. Bob Sippell, Mr. Tom Bryce, Mr. Melvin Patterson, Miss Marty Sikora and Mrs. Carol Skillman. Mrs. Skillman joined the Kettering staff this year.

Linda Hosler and Becky Espinoza work hard playing their bass clarinets.

The 1974-75 school year kicked off a campaign for new band uniforms. The Band Parents and students decided that the old uniforms may not make it another thirteen years. A committee of parents and students formed to design a new uniform that could be used for marching and concerts. The necessary $26,000 was raised by sponsoring many projects. This was accomplished in one year. The School Board donated $10,000 towards the uniforms. Some of the money raising projects included a Dinner-Dance at Springfield Oaks, a rock-a-thon, Tag Day Sales and many personal donations from members of the community.

The band also held an exchange concert with Belleville.

An addition was made to the Instrumental Music Department when Miss Judy Peters joined the faculty. Miss Peters' experience includes a year studying in France at a saxophone conservatory.

The band also had an executive board comprised of students elected by fellow members of the band. Duties of the executive board were to resolve any problems that occurred during the year.

Music fills the air

Harmony and happiness fill the air when students of Kettering's Vocal Music Department start to sing. Vocal Music Director, Mrs. Janet Hunt works with the various vocal groups within the department. Vocal music students make up the Mixed Chorus, A Cappella Choir, Gleemen, Senior Girls Ensemble, Madrigal and Junior Girls.

The Vocal Music Department presented several concerts throughout the year. They also performed at the Pontiac State Bank and during the Christmas Assembly.

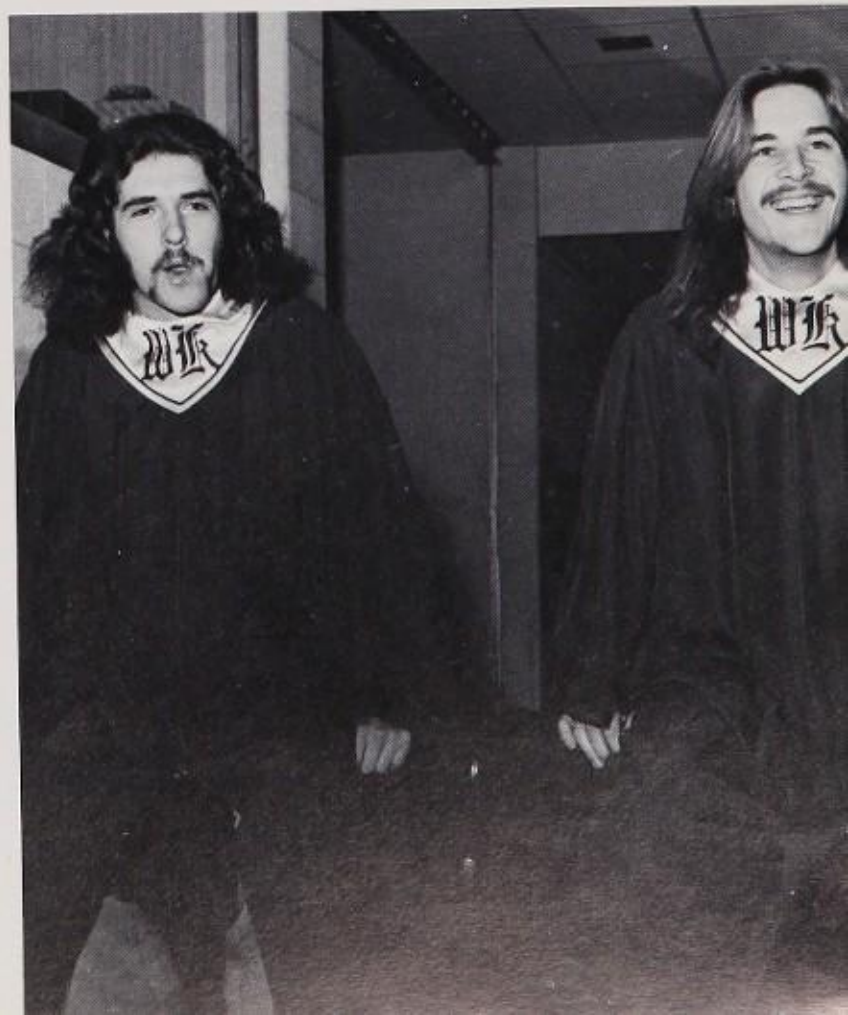

In the Spring, the Vocal Music Department joined with the Drama Department to present the musical "Sound of Music."

Rick Fagen, Kent Turner, Steve Kirlin, Robert Martinson and Don Tipton practice with Sherrie Campbell, Colleen McConnell, Sue Coryell, Ann Simons and Dorinda Martinson.

Individuality expressed through creativity

Janet Meston looks puzzled at what color she should use next.

Robin Lang is busy filing her next project in one of the Jewelry making classes.

While Mary Reinhart is making a new design on her pottery, Carla Blain is painting hers carefully.

Beth Capahe becomes very intent on making an unusual painting for her painting class.

Marie Guimares, the exchange student from Brazil is progressing at a very rapid speed, in ceramics.

Tina Powers and Cathy Schmidt are trying to solder a ring in Jewelry making.

Our Art Department this year provided the students with a variety of courses. It gave them the opportunity to use their own creativity, to express themselves artistically and to devote a great deal of time to their projects. The students hooked rugs, painted, designed and made jewelry, and molded pottery. The teachers in the Art Department help and encourage young people with an interest in art no matter what their potential may be. The instructors are, Mr. Robert Seeburger for Design and Color, Painting, and Drawing. Mrs. Genie Lanthorne for Crafts, and Jewelry. Mrs. Margaret Parmenter for Jewelry and Ceramics.

While Terry Edwards and Bruce Hunt finish their ceramic project, Karen Dubre puts her's away for the day.

Kettering's Golf Team improved in many ways from last year. Their biggest win came against a cross town rival, Waterford Township, when they won a double meet, 407-411.

In addition to being the team captain, John Gibson set a new school record for nine holes, a three under par thirty-three at Pontiac Country Club.

In the area tournaments, the Oakland Press Invitational, Wayne-Oakland League Tournament and the State Regionals, Kettering finished tenth, third and twelfth respectively.

This year's ten member team consisted of three seniors, six juniors and one sophomore. With so many juniors returning, next year's team should pose a threat to opponents.

Kettering gridgers end with .500 season

With Senior Captains John Bauer and Bill Kurtz, the Kettering grid team ended the season with a four win four loss record.

Kirk Gibson received the most valuable player award. Gibson also set a new school record of twenty-five running attempts gaining 311 yards in a single game. Others receiving awards were Chet Muckenhirn, the Vince Lombardi Award and Mike Merritt the Optimist Award.

Everyone knows the Kettering-Township crosstown rivalry. This game was probably the most surprising and best played game in Kettering's entire season, as Kettering sailed over the Skippers by a score of 21 to 14.

Skiers advance to state finals

Lisa Rodgers begins a down hill run during league competition.

Aggressively racing down the hill, Lisa Rodgers attempts to out ski the time clock. Her time in this run helped the girls' team win the meet.

Sophomore Heather Coates takes a trial run down one of the challenging hills at Pine Knob. Heather was one of eight sophomores on this year's ski team. She will be returning next year to add her skiing talents to the girls' team.

After completing their timed runs, Mike McIntosh and Mike Hensen ride the chairlift back up the hill to try again.

Skiing down a difficult course was Mike Hensen. This near perfect fun was abolished by this untimely fall. Hensen, a junior, will be back next year to ski for Kettering.

Mike Bates and Wayne Myers make a few minor adjustments in their equipment before skiing in competition. As a senior, this was Myers' last year skiing on the Kettering ski team.

hurn, John Arsen and Laurie Sholler. The enthusiasm of the members of the ski team was one of the reasons for the teams successful season. The team held regular practices at Pine Knob Ski Resort to improve their skiing abilities. Following the season's end a team banquet was held.

This year's boys' and girls' ski teams were more successful than in previous years. After taking first place in the Wayne Oakland League at Pine Knob, the boys' team travelled to Mt. Holly to participate in the Detroit News Invitational

Ski Tournament. Their exceptional skiing netted them a third place standing. As a highlight of the '75 season, the boys' ski team and one member of the girls' ski team, Laurie Sholler, qualified for the state finals held in Marquette.

Mike McIntosh was the captain of the boys' ski team while Laurie Sholler and Lisa Rogers co-captained the girls' ski team. The teams were coached by Mr. Lowell Kage and held their home meets at Pine Knob Ski Resort.

Most of the time there was never a dull moment

With a few more breaks here and there, this years J. V. team could have been more successful than their 15-5 record indicates.

Some of those breaks could have came in both games they played against Pontiac Northern. The first game was a disaster, but the second game was the complete opposite though the score does not quite agree. The first game against West Bloomfield we should have never lost. At Clarkston, many strange things happened. They shot their highest shooting percentage of the season against Mott but it was not quite enough.

In the game against Clarkston, Jeff Holm had the highest free throw percentage.

Two exciting comeback, overtime victories and all the other games this season were coached by Mr. Rick Ziem who did an outstanding job of JV coaching during his first year at Kettering.

JV continued to have the team work and the pride needed to have a successful season. Most of this years team will be next years varsity. This gives them something to look forward to during spring and the summer months.

Captains, Kirk Gibson, Jim Webb, Mark Collard, John Gorte, and Tim Weiss, clinch hands for victory.

This year's basketball team was packed with outstanding senior players. Tim Weiss was considered one of the five best players in Oakland County. He averaged close to 30 points a game. Kirk Gibson had the best rebounding ability in the state as far as our fans were concerned. Mark Collard was a big help on rebounds and his key points. Bill Kurtz could beat any press with his dribbling and excelled with his jump shots from the key. Jim Webb and John Gorte have been great assets to the team. John played center as well as forward while Jim played guard and forward. The other Senior on the '75 varsity basketball team was Scott Taylor. Scott's position was forward on the team. This year's talent packed team kept Kettering fans on the edge of their seats throughout the basketball season. This year's seniors may be the best players Kettering has ever graduated.

Girl cagers have mediocre season

This years girls basketball team was "much the same as other girls teams...enthusiastic, funloving, and perhaps a bit more dedicated and hard working" stated Coach Lewis.

Becky Corey and Anne Crowley made the all W-O first and second teams respectively. An honorable mention went to Teddi Hall.

Anne Crowley had an individual high of twenty points in a single game. Becky Corey had the season high of 148 points. The team had five consecutive wins and a game high of 51 points.

This years Co-captains were Lynn Strong and Becky Corey. Many of this years players will be returning next season to build an even stronger team.

Losses outnumber victories

Girls' volleyball had a very trying season. They put forth effort and spirit throughout the 1975 season. Mr. Melvin Patterson took over as head coach for both varsity and junior varsity teams. His patience and understanding with the team was an added encouragement to the team. This year's volleyball team had its first league tournament with schools from the area.

The Ketterettes are a squad of fourteen girls who perform routines during the half-times of basketball games. This season the Ketterettes have performed ten times, one of which was an invitation to an away game at Waterford Township High School.

The purpose of the Ketterettes is to raise pep and boost spirit as well as entertain those who remain in the stands. There was crowd participation in the game against Pontiac Northern.

Routines have been done to such songs as "Dance to the Music," "Rock Around the Clock," and "Hey, Don't Ever Look Back."

Pep leaders

This years J. V. squad won third place at the camp they attended during the summer. Members of the squad, especially co-captains Beth Brede and Sophie Pantelides, were very proud. Other members of the squad were Lin Bemman, Sandy Cox, juniors, Kim Britt, Lori Malvich, sophomores.

Even though the squad didn't have a football team to cheer for, they still practiced during football season. Their outstanding performances showed this.

Guitarist Gary Mueller practices a tune on his electric guitar.

The Christmas Concert was one of the many concerts at which the Symphony Band performed for the students.

Scott Wellemeier, Don Clapham and John Gorte performed a skit during the Introductory Assembly at the first of the school year. This was one of the many activities in which members of this year's band participated.

Members of the Trumpet section, Dave Denoyer, Vickie Wilson and Dennis Franks practice a number before a Pep Assembly. Band members spend as much if not more time practicing outside of class as they do in class. Time and effort is spent preparing for Solo and Ensemble Festivals as well as preparing for concerts, marching, participating in Pep Band, Jazz Band and performing for the public.

Members of the Saxophone section, Tim Teagarden, Maynard Myers, Denise Tuson and trombonist, Tom Duffield, spend some time during class practicing for an upcoming concert. Assistant Band Director, Miss Judy Peters, studied saxophone at a French music conservatory and was able to lend some valuable assistance to members of the Saxophone section. Miss Peters joined the staff this year.

Participating in the band is a year round activity. John Gorte, Ronda Henson, Randy Thompson, Becky Espinoza, Gary Ferris, Pam McNeal, Tim Thompson, Kevin Fangel, Robin Rice and Glenn Polley spend part of their summer preparing for the marching season.

Don Saylor was another member of this year's band members to perform at the Introductory Assembly.

And the band plays on

Bob Bass, a member of the high brass section, practices a trumpet selection as class begins.

High Brass section of the band include, ROW ONE, Jeff Terry, Wendy Wilcox, Sally Reid, Ines Hohlstein, Lorri Thompson and Cindy Foster. ROW TWO, Larry Andress, Beth Worland, Teresa Partin, Dennis Franks and Greg Winter. ROW THREE, Dave Denoyer, Jim Chubb, Penny McNeal, Bob Bass and Vicky Wilson. ROW FOUR, Kevin Blue, Steve Gasaway, Barb Martin, Tim Sizemore, Albert Nollet, Mark Ross. ROW FIVE, Band Director, Mr. George Fetter, Assistant Band Director, Miss Judy Peters.

Members of the Pep Band participated in all assemblies including the Spirit Week Assembly.

Martin Sulkanen, Pam McNeal, Kathy Nollet and Debby Babcock members of the low woodwinds section of the band practice before a for the Winter Concert. The Bellville Band made a guest appearance at the Winter Concert. The Kettering Band returned the visit later in the year.

Band is a natural

The music program at WK varies tremendously, from classic to jazz. Jazz is what this page is concerned with. Sixteen young musicians were brought together to form the annual Jazz Band. They traveled to different places to play for dances and to help raise money for new marching uniforms. Selections by the Jazz Band were one of the many highlights of the Spring Concert.

Tim Teagarden, Denise Tuson, Tom Duffield and Brad Tuson play saxophones.

Maynard Myers plays the trombone while Dave Denoyer, Vicki Wilson and Dennis Franks play the trumpets. Penny McNeal joins them with the tambourine. They worked hard to become jazz band players.

Pep band has spirit

Whenever an excess amount of noise was being made at basketball games it usually was either Pep Club or Pep Band. This little band of about forty members tried to inspire some pep in the crowd. During time-outs and half times the band played such favorites as the McDonald's Song, Mm, Mm Good and Bleacher Boogie. Mr. Fetter and Miss Peters took turns directing and a student director, Scott Wellemeyer even got a chance.

Pep Band performs during halftime of a basketball game.

Welsh, Howard Andress. THIRD ROW, Lori Thompson, Adrienne Klaus. TOP, Miss Looman, Thespian Sponsor.

Miss Looman and Marie Whiston look on as Chris Andress and Dan Saylor try out for "The Sound of Music" while Mrs. Hunt directs.

Thespian-adj. 1. a tragedian; an actor or actress. That's how The American College Dictionary defines Thespian, however, informed students here at W-K know that a Thespian does more than just act. To become a member of Thespian Troupe #2244, requires not just acting ability, but also the willingness to volunteer to spend free time for the group. In fact, acting is not even required for membership, it is just another facet of this group which forms the steady, firm, guiding, core for the Dramatics Club. Membership is based on a point score, totaled throughout the year, figured on work done at volunteer projects.

Ketteringites perform in "The Ugly Duckling."

Howard Andress, Marie Whiston, Larry Andress and Rich Welsh are amazed in "By the Skin of Our Teeth."

Dramatics club calls for curtain

Dramatics Club LEFT TO RIGHT, BOTTOM ROW, Bob Bass, Don Meyers, Bill Klaus, Wayne Utley, Bart Russel. SECOND ROW, Rich Welch, Sue St. James,

Cindy Evans, Howard Andress, Glenda Flath, Mark Cavin, Marie Whiston. TOP ROW, Mr. Mike Reilly, Brenda Stokes, Mark Woodle, Adrienne Klaus, Lynn Stehlik, Lori Thompson, Dorinda Martinson, John Gressa and Miss Patty Looman.

Directors, Mr. Mike Reilly and Miss Patty Looman think about try-outs.

Wife, Kim Kirkpatrick and husband, Tom Burling worry over mother, Mary Clark in the play, "Barefoot in the Park."

John Gressa applies make-up to himself.

This year the Dramatics Club opened four productions to the public. These shows were "Barefoot in the Park," "The Sound of Music," "The Playroom" and three one act plays. All of these productions were well done and the audiences always left the auditorium with a good feeling.

The object of theater is to allow people to enjoy themselves, to let them forget time for a while. The method of theater is a "willing suspension of disbelief." In both of these categories, this year's group was outstanding. The acting was especially exemplary of what should be seen on stage.

Most people don't understand the work put into a play. What really happens is six to eight weeks of two hour rehearsals four nights a week. What we see is a finished product that lasts maybe two hours. What really happens is backbreaking work on a set. What we see is a stage that looks nice enough to live in. What really happens is a face sweating from caked on make-up. What

Mike VanderHoek, Larry Andress and Lori Thompson discuss set construction.

Mary Clark watches Tom Burling stare...

Karen Goff, Randy Thomson and Vicki Wilson study parts before trying out for "The Sound of Music."

Actors suspend time

we see is an old man, who we know is really only sixteen years old. What really happens is scorching work under lights to correctly position them. What we see is an evenly lighted set. These things and others are what make a play enjoyable to the audience. But, don't misread this, the actors and crew have more fun than anyone outside the theater could know.

... at Randy Thompson who stares back in exhausted wonderment.

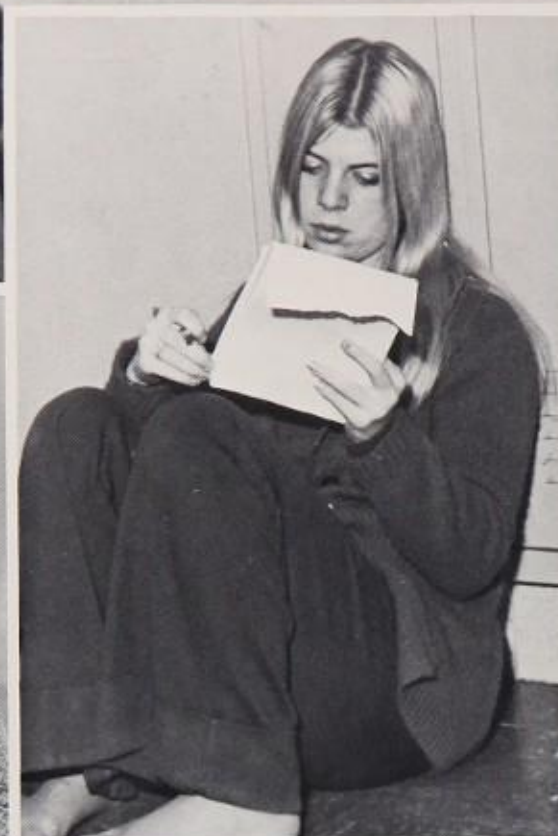

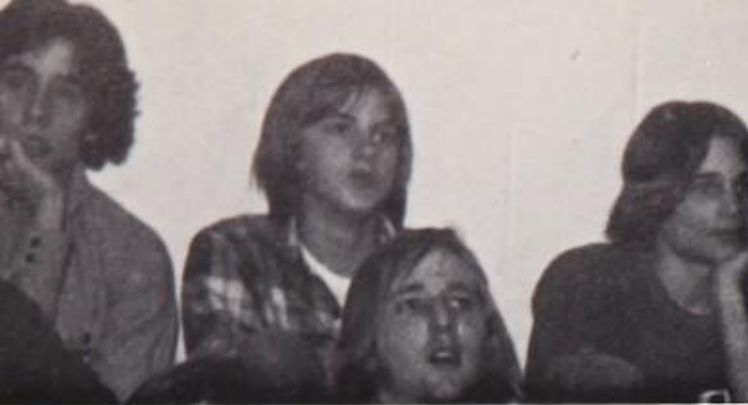

Kim Kirkpatrick and Laura Sias are wheeled off stage by Bob Boss at the end of a play.

John Gressa offers "niches" to Mary Clark as Kim Kirkpatrick and Tom Burling look on.

Linda Hosler, Lori Barkell and Garian Weston try-out for "The Sound of Music", as Mrs. Janet Hunt plays the piano accompaniment.

A problem for the Sophomores this year, was that the J. V. football team was cancelled. Because of the cancellation, the Sophomores had to play on the Varsity Team. The games were hard hitting, but the Sophomores stuck with it.

Sophomores, or "Rookies", which ever you prefer, are continually trying to adjust to the new problems they come up against when they come out of junior high and then go into high school.

One of those problems being, getting used to a new type of school. Being around older people instead of the immature ones in junior high.

Juniors Charlie Deacon, Pam McNeal, and Pat Stottlemeyer sell Puffy Popcorn.

The Junior Class Board is made up of the junior representatives in Student Council. Their main objective is to have activities so they can make money for their class. They have had popcorn sales, and have sold concessions at football and basketball games. They have held big activities such as the square dance, and the Sadie Hawkins dance. This year's class board is made up of Jim Youngquist, President; Lisa Rogers, Vice-President; Linda Tatu, Treasurer; and Jim Combs, Secretary. The other members are Charlie Deacon, Pat Stottlemeyer, Greg Ruggles, Rod Voltmer, and Pam McNeal.

In three years seniors see changes in school and in attitudes. To find some of these changes we asked a few seniors and found these results:

"Lunch prices have gone up every year." "I used to look up and admire the seniors when I was a sophomore. When I was a junior I put down the sophomores quite a bit. Now that I'm a senior, I can't see why I looked up to the other class." "I can't understand how people can change without notice." "Every year people get crazier." "I used to love to come to the big school when I was a sophomore and now I can't wait to leave it forever." "All the Juniors and Sophomores look like pot-heads."

There are some advantages to being a Senior. One is a wide selection of classes offered to Seniors only. These require more thinking and much research. Research Seminar is an example of in depth research work. This class helps Seniors prepare for writing a college term paper.

Psychology requires thinking but not as much research. Students learn why people do things and how disorders are cured. Students also learn about their own personalities.

Advanced Biology is the study of human and animal physiology. The class visits Wayne State University Medical School to observe anatomy classes.

MARVIN EPPERSON

For the first time in many years the Senior class planned and went on a senior trip. The class of '75 had Toronto, Ontario as their destination. When the last minute preparations were made, over sixty senior decided to go.

A five day week-end was planned for the middle of November. The students visited many of the cultural and educational points of interest in Toronto.

Many of the seniors left Toronto with the impression that it was one of the most enjoyable and cleanest of towns they have ever visited. Everyone came back with stories to tell and work to catch up on.

By the time a person goes through seven years of elementary school, three years of junior high and two years of high school, that person is likely to catch a disease called "Senioritis."

The symptoms of this disease include wandering aimlessly through the halls when attendance in class is required.

This disease is inevitably contracted to some degree by the majority of seniors at some point during their final year of high school. It is most prevalent before and after vacations. Seniors at Kettering were not immune!

Since she was about five years old, Theresa Crawford has been studying Ballet. Lately Theresa has been giving lessons to over fifty young students at home and at the C. A. I. During the summer months she journeys to Pennsylvania for a six week-long class. One of the reasons Theresa travels all the way to Pennsylvania is because her Aunt is a teacher at the school. Most of her training came from this school when she was nine to fourteen years old. There are four to six lessons per day depending on the advancement of the individual.

One of the more enterprising members of the class of '75 is Howard Andress. Howard has been a valuable asset to the class. During his final year of high school he was voted to one of the highest offices at Kettering, Senior Class President. Howard united the class in various projects including the Senior Trip.

Howard was also a member of Project Concern as the area's youth coordinator. He also participated in Junior Achievement. In his sophomore and Junior years he was the best salesman and officer of the year. The summer before his sr. yr. he spent a week at a J. A. conference at Indiana University where he met some of the 2500 delegates from all over the world.

One of the senior class members does something in his spare time that a lot of people often dream about... Mike McIntosh races motorcycles. Although he has only been racing for a little over two years, he is doing well. On January fifth of 1975 he went to Invernas Florida near Orlando to participate in a race. Mike did quite well and placed fourth and tied for second place. Mike didn't know for sure but estimated that he had somewhere between 85 and 90 trophies for his efforts.

Every Sunday Mike and his brother race somewhere. They have been in races in Indiana, Ohio, up north and a lot of other places. When asked why he enjoyed to race he replied that he liked a risk or a challenge where you gotta fight for it.

For the past several years, Seniors who have completed their graduation requirements have been allowed to graduate at the end of the first semester of their Senior year. This practice was originated to accommodate students who planned to enter college in January.

This year, more students than ever before have taken advantage of the early graduation policy. Many of them began working full-time jobs, while others continued their education on the college level. While some travelled, others were married.

Most of the January graduates returned in June to participate in Commencement Ceremonies with fellow seniors.

Although its been said that Waterford as a community offers very little, many people have found a whole life in the boring little community area. There are many activities going on every night. Some examples are the summer outdoor's evening concerts at Pine Knob, Springfield-Oaks and Meadow Brook to entertainment at the numerous Cinemas to Pinball and, even for a few, Bar-Hopping.

Partying-down came to be THE favorite pastime for seniors. During the school year and vacation month's, parties were hosted by just about everyone in some form.

Going to see friends at nearby colleges also gained in popularity. College life was tested by spending anywhere from a day to a week of dropping in on classes and attending parties in neighboring dorms.

For the past two years the Class of '75 has placed first in the float competition. During the competition the 500 wing was used after school to unite a somewhat apathetic group of seniors in float building and flower making. Students held flower parties to try and get enough flowers made to cover the float.

This year's float was one of the first moving floats at Kettering. A pair of hands were pushing a sun up while it was trying to go down. The float exemplified the homecoming theme, "Don't Let the Sun Go Down on Me."

The summer of '74 held a few surprises for two senior journalism students, Jill Jones and Bob Burdick.

Jill and Bob attended a Publications Workshop at Ohio University in Athens, Ohio. At the workshop they learned a variety of newspaper and magazine techniques including: layout and design, reporting and interviewing skills.

Along with several hundred other students from throughout the country, Jill and Bob attended lectures and class sessions throughout the entire week.

While at the Workshop, Jill and Bob had an opportunity to meet Morey Turner, creator of the syndicated cartoon strip, "Wee Pals."

Seniors do have thoughts and ideas. To show a few, another list of changes that the Class of '75 noticed was compiled to show these results:
 "There has always been too much 'red tape' here to even try for a change."
 "Teachers act differently towards seniors. Sophomores are treated like kids while seniors are treated more equal."

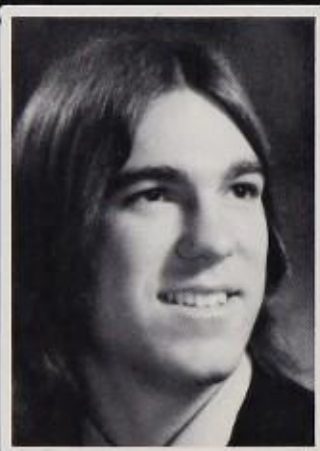

"There is a lot more enthusiasm in the student body this year than two years ago." "You can get away with just about anything at this school."
 "Students have always criticized what they did not understand and never tried to understand what they criticized." "There is one thing that hasn't changed, you still can't breathe in the bathrooms."

The Board of Education provides our school system with the materials needed to educate today's students. They also have the final decision on new classes that will be added to our curriculum. They only add classes that they feel will be helpful to students. Through their efforts they have kept things running smoothly in the Waterford School District.

The Board of Education and Dr. John Pagen hold a meeting to discuss school business.

These men are not just sitting behind their desks. They all have responsibilities to keep the schools moving ahead. Dr. John Pagen, Superintendent and Roy Alexander and Joseph Giddis, the Assistant Superintendents, go to Board of Education meetings to improve the school district, and bring new ideas. So you see these men have a lot of responsibility, and they're the ones who keep Waterford Schools in shape.

If you compare yourself with others,
you may become vain and bitter;

for always there will be greater and lesser persons than yourself.

This was a year of new experiences for both students and teachers. All the experiences weren't enjoyable, but were needed for an education of life. High school is a window on life that allows students to realize abilities and potentials. High school also allows students the privilege to dream. Students learned adult values while forming their own. And hopefully the teachers recognized younger values.

We hope in our small way we have brought you closer to yourself.
